A Pattern of Progress

Man's relationships trace a pattern of progress on the surface of history. This pattern becomes apparent when seen in perspective. Each man — each student — views his actions in relation to the group and his own pattern of progress and growth becomes clear to him.

This book is a record of that progress. Through it each student traces his relationship with his college and how he and it have grown with each other through activities, studies, social gatherings, and friendships.

The group works together and the results of its cooperative efforts are felt in the gradual change of custom and tradition. But the group is only as strong as its members. Therefore, every individual leaves his mark upon the progress of the group. Every individual is invaluable to its activities. Every student is effective somehow in the progress of the college.

As he looks back through his yearbook, a student can recall his contributions to the life of his college community. He can recall with pride the progress that has come through his participation. This book is for him. It is for him to look back to as a landmark — to go forward from as a stepping stone.

A student can find recorded here a happy moment — Homecoming, shuffling through the first snow, meeting at the Social building, pep assemblies, pinochle. He can find a dreamy moment — dances, that big date, spring. A tense moment, too — an exam, goodbyes, graduation. All will be long remembered. All form a pattern of progress.

This yearbook, then, is a warm record of achievement for the year 1955-56, is the living story of every student, is for the modern age, is a stepping stone for the years to come.

This yearbook is you.

Where all paths converge

Dedication

To Dr. Morton C. Cunningham — educator, speaker, promoter, family man, and Fort Hays Kansas State College president — the 1956 Reveille is respectfully dedicated.

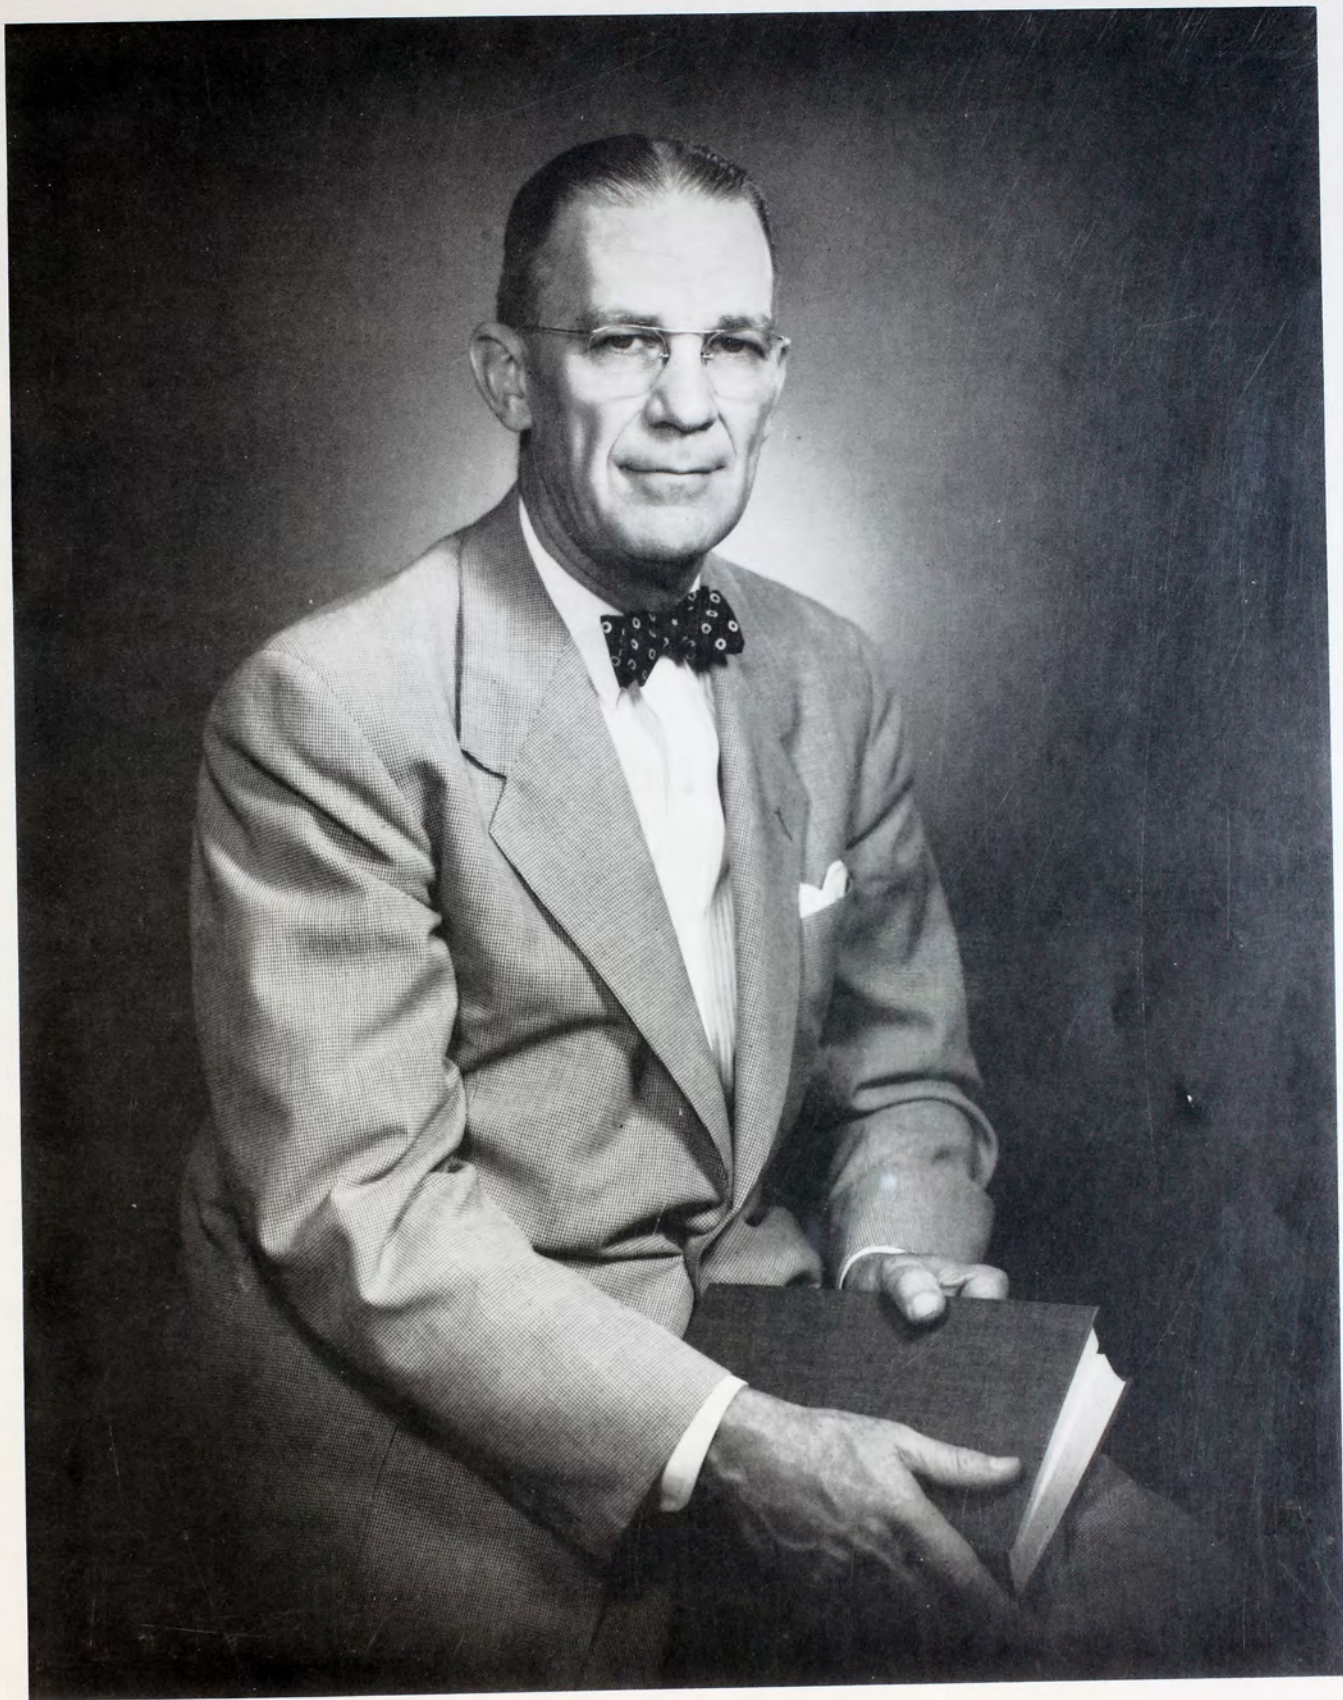

Now in his seventh year as president, Dr. Cunningham is a familiar figure to everyone on the campus. His ready smile, cheerful greeting, and his intense interest in people have knitted a close relationship between him and his colleagues and students.

Education has always been of the utmost importance in the president's life. For the past thirty years, he has worked unceasingly to further its progress. Much of his time is spent in the role of an ambassador of good will for the college.

Fort Hays Staters and alumni will always remember and admire this tireless man who is calm and yet firm, affable but dynamic.

The Cunningham family—Dr. M. C. Cunningham, Chris, Marianne, and Mrs. M. C. Cunningham.

Across Campus.....

Fort Hays State College opened its doors of education in 1902 on the grassy plains of Western Kansas. In the native stone buildings, students through the years have worked, played, and planned for their future. Dances, assemblies, and sport events are held in Sheridan Coliseum. Students eat together at Cody Commons. Forsyth Library houses fossil remains of pre-historic Kansas in the museum as well as the latest book on the condition of today's range land. The Science Building holds the mysterious odors and formulae of progress. From across campus the dome of the observatory looks ever upward into the Western Kansas sky.

We Will Long Remember...

The echoes of jovial laughter, hum of busy office machines, and the grinding noise of buzz saws all coming from the various campus buildings. Picken Hall, the oldest building on the campus, has an auditorium which provides a setting for theatre productions of the college. In honor of the second president, the education building received the name Rarick Hall. Contrasting with traditional buildings is the modern Applied Arts Building. And students will never forget the good times spent in the Social Building. From one season to the next, Lewis Field Stadium awaits the cheers of the crowd.

Home Is Where You Make It.....

Dormitory life will long be a part of the college memories of nearly every student at Fort Hays State. New dorms were opened for both men and women this year to provide homes for the growing student body. Custer Hall and Men's Residence have their own cafeterias and when the new addition joins the Agnew Halls it, too, will have its own cafeteria. Colorful modern interior decorating make these living units attractive and cheerful. Wesley Hall, jointly controlled by the college and the Methodist Church of Hays, has accommodations for forty women. Approximately twenty-five men make their home at Lewis Field Stadium. The President's Home is located west of the campus. A beautiful home of ranch design, it is built for gracious living and entertaining.

In Memoriam

NIGHT ON THE PRAIRIES

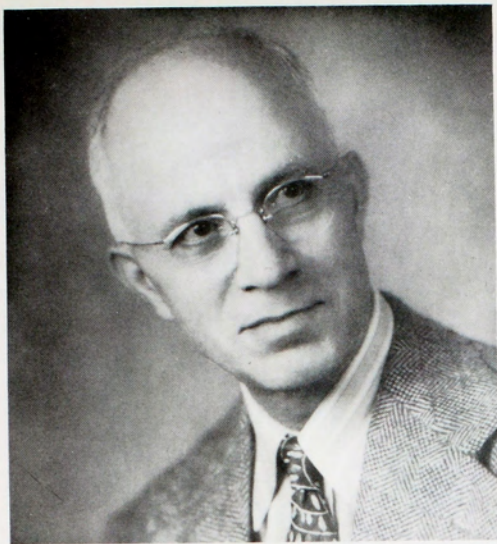

Night on the prairies;
The supper is over — the fire on the ground burns low;
The wearied emigrants sleep, wrapt in their blankets;
I walk by myself — I stand and look at the stars, which I think now I never realized before.

Now I absorb immortality and peace,
I admire death, and test propositions.
How plenteous! How spiritual! How resume!
The same Old Man and Soul — the same old aspirations, and the same content.

I was thinking the day most splendid, till I saw what the notday exhibited,
I was thinking this globe enough, till there sprang out so noiseless around me myriads of other globes . . .

O I see now that life cannot exhibit all to me — as the day cannot,
I see that I am to wait for what will be exhibited by death.

Administration & Faculty

... never rest, for at the end of the day they rush off to club and organization meetings, to chaperon parties, or to yell for the team at the varsity games. Each administrator and faculty member takes a personal interest in the students attending this college, and will always take time out of their busy schedules for counseling or to help iron out problems. These advisors are partners with the student body in making every Fort Hays State function a success. They will be remembered not only as teachers, but also as good friends.

News of the outside world passes through these partitions to the faculty members.

Administration

The administration and faculty — our leaders, teachers and friends. Their service cannot be measured by facts and figures. They are partners with the student body in maintaining the smooth functioning of Fort Hays Kansas State College.

Traditions

... become a firm foundation on which a college is built. Orientation Week enables the Freshmen to get acquainted and adjusted. Homecoming brings out alums and students who work together on everything from decorations to winning the game. A year would not be complete without dances. Some of the special ones are the Greek Formal, Reveille Ball, and Sweetheart Ball. Home grown beards mark the beginning of Leap Week. The Follies give everyone the opportunity to show his talents. Such events sprinkled throughout the year add variety to the busy days.

It made no difference whether a Freshman girl wore her beanie or not — she still got lipstick smeared on her face just on general principles.

Orientation

The ultra modern freshman seemed to be the center of attraction.

"Apple Polishing Parties" were held by faculty members to become better acquainted with students. Mr. and Mrs. McFarland furnished Bingo to entertain Nancy Adams and Cheryl Behrends. Phyllis Saylor was their Student Leader.

Georgianna Boyde, Kay Hill, and Wilma Huber were served spiced tea by Miss Morrison at the annual Faculty Women's Club tea for freshman women in September.

Freshmen and Student Leaders were guests at President M. C. Cunningham's open house at the beginning of the year. Leila Walz and Melvin Gardner, Student Leaders, showed a college pamphlet to freshmen Claudene Wonderlick, Janice Guyer, Kay Yost, and Faye Ginther.

Lines were just a little longer this year as students waited for their class slips which admitted them to courses. Fort Hays State's two semester enrollment topped two thousand.

Week

Miss Artman served homemade ice cream to students attending the "Apple Polishing Party" held at her home.

Everyone had to stand in line for chow at the college picnic in the Hays City State Park.

All-Greek Formal

Fort Hays State opened its social season with the All-Greek formal. Members of the four sororities and five fraternities danced to the music of Ted Smith's orchestra.

The annual affair was sponsored by the officers of the Inter-Fraternity and Panhellenic Councils. It is the only dance of the year which is set aside for Greek members.

Presidents of the four sororities and five fraternities plus the officers of Inter-Fraternity and Panhellenic Councils formed a receiving line to greet the guests.

Housemothers served punch from the refreshment table throughout the evening.

Couples enjoyed the evening dancing.

Scholarship Winners

The Scholarship Program increased this year to include 115 students. The scholarships are provided to the college through four sources: the local Chamber of Commerce; college organizations and activities; county, state, and national groups; and service club or individuals.

The Scholarship Committee sets up requirements, screens applicants, and gives the final approval for scholarship candidates. This year they held a dessert for all students who were recipients of grants. They were honored by the attendance of Mr. Adel Throckmorton, State Superintendent of Public Schools.

1955 Homecoming

Marilyn Hobbie smiles happily after she was crowned Homecoming Queen for 1955. Charles Evans was the Queen's escort.

Homecoming—the biggest celebration of the year. It began with the annual Sophomore-Freshman tug-of-war across Big Creek. In the evening there was the Fort Hays State Review to look forward to. Following it, the flames of the bonfire at the pep rally. Activities whirled through the two days until the last dance was played on Saturday night.

On Saturday morning the alums started assembling for chats and visits with former classmates and friends. At ten-thirty the college band led the Homecoming parade down Main Street featuring floats, a Queen, bands, and clowns.

At the half time of the football game, President M. C. Cunningham crowned Marilyn Hobbie 1955 Homecoming Queen. She and her two attendants—Juanita Kobler and Norma Hayes—were presented to the Homecoming crowd.

When the last seconds ticked off the clock and the scoreboard showed the Tigers victorious over the Ravens the packed Stadium went wild.

Fort Hays State students and alums wound up the weekend by attending the Homecoming dance held in the Coliseum. Music was furnished by Charlie Spivak and his orchestra.

The Queen's two attendants, Juanita Kobler and Norma Hayes, rode down Main Street in the Homecoming parade.

Fort Hays State Tigers carried the pigskin toward pay dirt.

Candidates for Homecoming Queen were nominated by the student body. They were left to right: Gwen Miller, Carol Holsman, Nadine Richmond, Marilyn Hobbie, Norma Hayes, and Juanita Kobler.

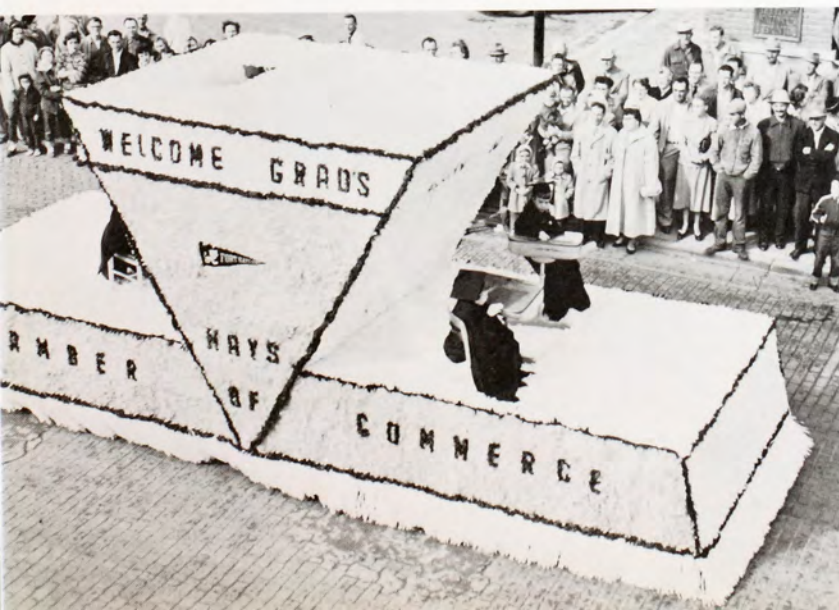

It was the Sophomores who were victorious over the Freshmen and thus the Freshmen beanies were worn until Thanksgiving vacation.

Jim Ball has the reputation of being the first sword swallower to attend Fort Hays State. He performed at the Review held on Friday night.

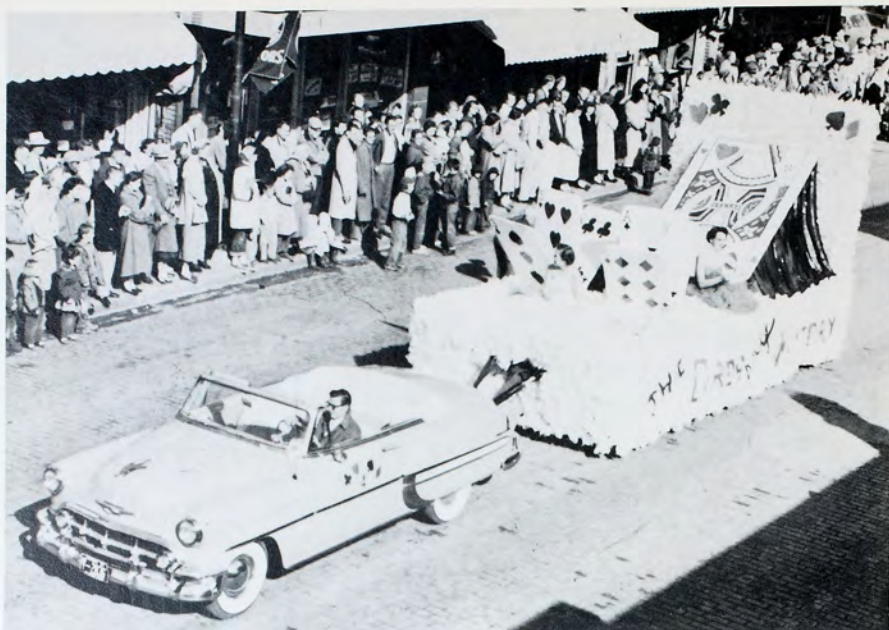

Not to be outdone by other campus organizations, the Phi Mu Alpha's presented their own queen and her two attendants.

Members of the Hays Chamber of Commerce entered a float in the parade to "Welcome Grads" returning for the weekend.

Sorority members of Sigma Sigma Sigma won first place in the women's division of floats proclaiming "The Cards Say Victory."

Students gathered together at the pep rally to send up cheers along with the flames of the bonfire.

A first place plaque went to the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity for their penguin who predicted "Keep Kool FHS."

Fort Hays State students and alums ended the activities on a high note at the Homecoming dance which featured the famed Charlie Spivak's orchestra.

Activities

"A Tweety Bird" sitting on the tongue of a Tiger won a second place tie in the men's division of floats for the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Five members of the first nursing class to graduate from the college offered First Aid for the Ravens."

Diane and Rex Mahan, professional roller skaters, entertained the audience with rhythm dancing at the Fort Hays State Review show.

Tieing for second place with the TKE fellows was the Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity with their "Toast to Victory" and the bronze Football statue.

The United States Air Force Band and the "Singing Sergeants" were among the guest entertainers at the college this year. Performing early in the fall, the Air Force Band delighted its audience with selections ranging from symphony to swing.

Soloists who highlighted the program included S/Sgt. William DuPree, tenor, former star of "Carmen Jones" and S/Sgt. Tommy Mor-

Conductor of the nationally famous band is Colonel George S. Howard, Chief of Bands and Music for the United States Air Force. Captain Robert L. Landers was director of the "Singing Sergeants."

During the year Jimmy "Dancing Shoes" Palmer's orchestra played an engagement at the Palladium Theatre in Hollywood, California.

When the time comes for passing out orchids, Jimmy Palmer and his orchestra members deserve a bushel basket full as a tribute for playing at the college on November 22nd. An auto accident in Nebraska, claiming four members of the orchestra, happened just three nights before their appearance in Hays. Mr. Palmer lived up to the motto, "the show must go on" and replacements were flown in so the orchestra could fulfill its contract.

The program included three choreographic productions from their repertoire of popular and classic ballet — "Swan Lake," "The Mikado," and "Gaité Parisienne." The success of the ballet was attested by the eight curtain calls demanded of the dancers at the end of the performance.

Man Chasing-Legal

Every four years, according to the calendar, is a Leap Year, but here at Fort Hays students celebrate a Leap Week every February whether the year is a legal Leap Year or not.

Leap Week begins on a Monday and ends on the following Friday with a Dogpatch Dance. Highlighting the dance was the announcement of the winning Bearded Joe and Daisy Mae.

During the week the glitter in the eyes of the gals stood as a warning to all the eligible bachelors that they were seriously endangered. But the men had a chance to get revenge by turning in any gal's name to the Kangaroo court for ungentlemanly conduct.

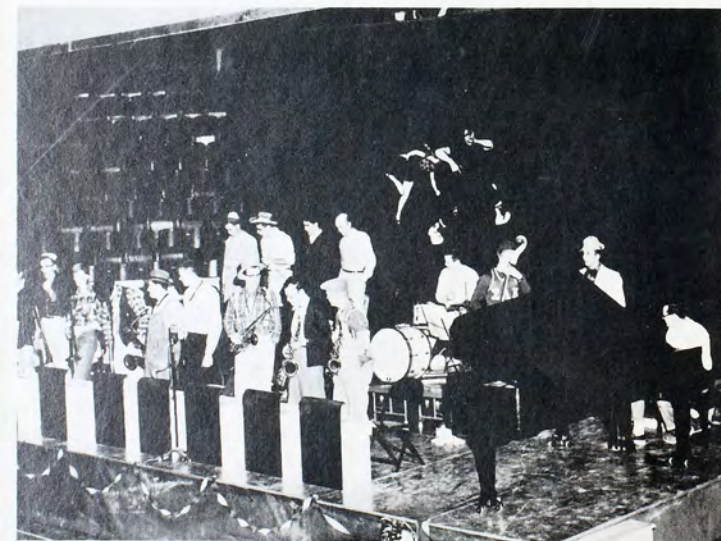

The Week's activities were co-sponsored by UNESCO and IRC.

Kayann Hill uses a little "cavewoman" style to catch a man. The poor victim was Jim Green and the accomplice, Vaunita Rusco.

These women—Marilyn Kraus, Kayann Hill, and Connie Eaton—were sentenced to a stay in the Dogpatch jail. They were found guilty by the Kangaroo court on a charge of "Molesting" Bill Bolton. Sheriffs, Bob Gibler and Hal Colony kept a watchful eye on the prisoners.

Members of the one-and-only Phi Mu dance band knocked out dance music during the evening.

Reveille

Miss Wanda Woodrow was crowned the 1956 Reveille Queen at the December 3rd Ball by Dean E. R. McCartney before a crowd of about 200 couples. Named as Princesses were Carolyn Heintz and Kathleen Smith.

Jimmy Palmer, who played a dance engagement at the college, chose the Queen and two Princesses this year judging on beauty from photographs presented to him.

Tau Gamma fraternity, and Miss Smith, sponsored by the Veterans Club, received trophies from Glenn Martin, assistant editor of the yearbook.

Couples walked over a wooden bridge to enter the coliseum arena decorated as a Japanese garden. Colored latterns stretched above the ballroom and Oriental figures ornamented the walls. Small tables were placed around the floor lighted by candles. A duplicate cover front of the 1956 Reveille sat on the stage. Master of ceremonies for the evening was Don Burnett and music was furnished by Ted Smith's orchestra.

About 200 couples spent the evening dancing in the coliseum decorated as a Japanese garden.

A new King is crowned.

Sweetheart Ball

It was hearts and flowers for Ronald Miller and Dorothy Wells when they were crowned King and Queen at the 1956 Sweetheart Ball on February 10th. Organizations sponsoring the royal pair were Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority and Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity.

Dean Bray, master of ceremonies, introduced the candidates and announced the royalty. Last year's king and queen, Larry Neelly and Carol Holsman, performed the coronation ceremony.

A large crowd proceeded to dance the hours away in the gayly Valentine decorated ballroom to the music of Bob Berger and his orchestra.

The King and Queen—Ronald Miller and Dorothy Wells—and their court reigned at the Sweetheart Ball. Members of the court were left to right: G. Thomas, G. Riedl, S. Stapp, M. Meuli, J. Kobler, E. Bell, M. Gardner, W. Alpers, A. Rooney, C. Eaton, R. Wickizer, and M. Stoss.

About 200 couples enjoyed a whirl to the music of the orchestra.

Vaudeville Varieties

Concert choir members presented their annual Vaudeville Varieties musical program for the purpose of raising scholarship money this year.

The production included a chorus, male quartet, septet, mixed octet, and a combo. The show was under the direction of C. Thomas Barr, professor of Music and chairman of the Department, and Donald Stout, assistant professor of Music.

Students and the public saw an entertaining performance of selections from "The Wizard of Oz," "Where's Charley?", "Plain and Fancy," "Can Can," and "Casablanca."

And it's on with the blackface to look authentic!

The Musical Minstrel number featured Charles Beltz as end man; John Clarke, Loren Wilson, and Charles Evans as soloists; and Virginia Harper and Rhetis Wickizer dancing a soft shoe routine. The chorus supplied background music as well as five special numbers.

After intermission the chorus opened with selections from the "Gay 90's."

Finale "Cranberry Corners, U.S.A.," included the whole cast of concert singers.

Fort Hays Follies

The Fort Hays Follies — memories of musical numbers, rehearsals, laughs, and fun. Produced in March to raise money for scholarships, the Follies featured competitive numbers and "specials."

Tim Scherr, master of ceremonies, provided humorous interludes. Sherla Bizek and Bob Scheuerman, co-directors of the student produced entertainment, announced the winners and presented the trophies.

Anything can happen when people are turned loose "In the Chemistry Lab." And the two Little Theater dancers created quite an explosion.

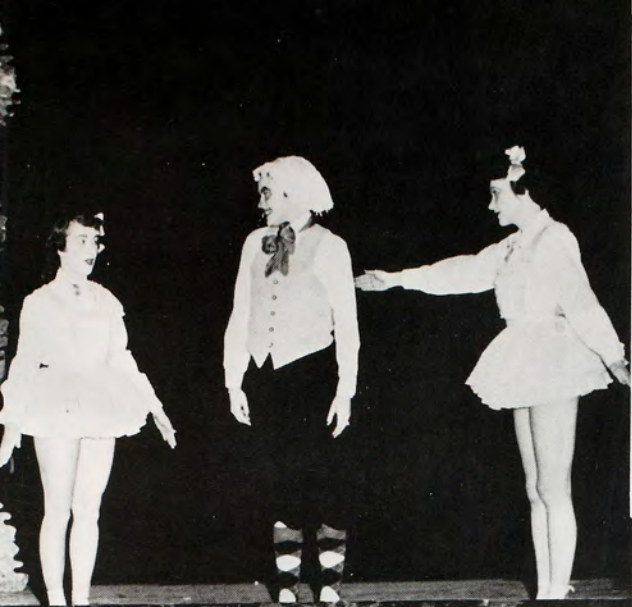

It was truly a "Great Day" for Kappa Sigma Kappa for they won the trophy awarded in the men's division.

"Arirang," Korean folk dance, featured five of the women from North Agnew Hall.

Listeners reminisced as the Phi Mu Alpha dance band members played selections "From B. G. to Stan."

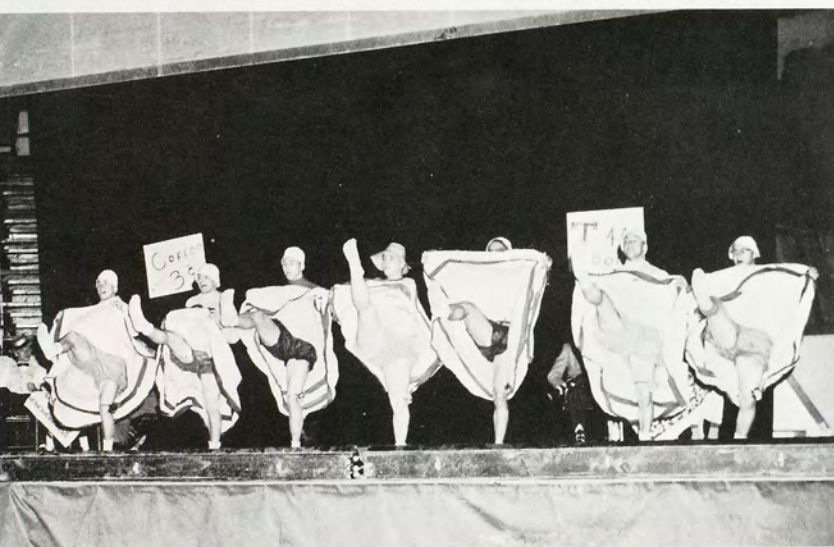

Delta Sigma Upsilon sorority women offered the song and dance of "Popo, the Puppet."

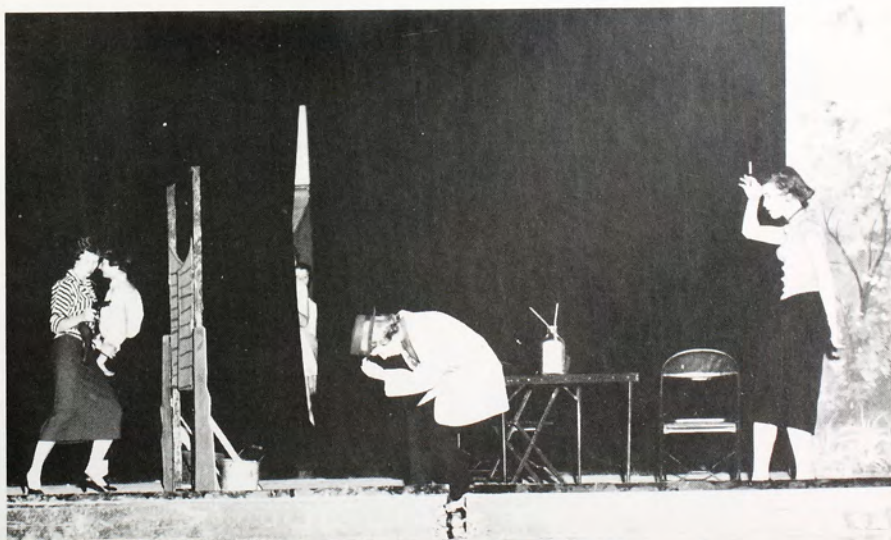

Fort Hays Singers presented their own version of "These are the Times. . ."

The "Roarin' Twenties Revue" of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity featured a chorus line.

Custer Hall women welcomed everyone to "Come to the Fair."

Walking off with the winning trophy in the women's division were "Frankie and Johnnie" portrayed by the Delta Sigma Epsilon sorority members.

Athletics

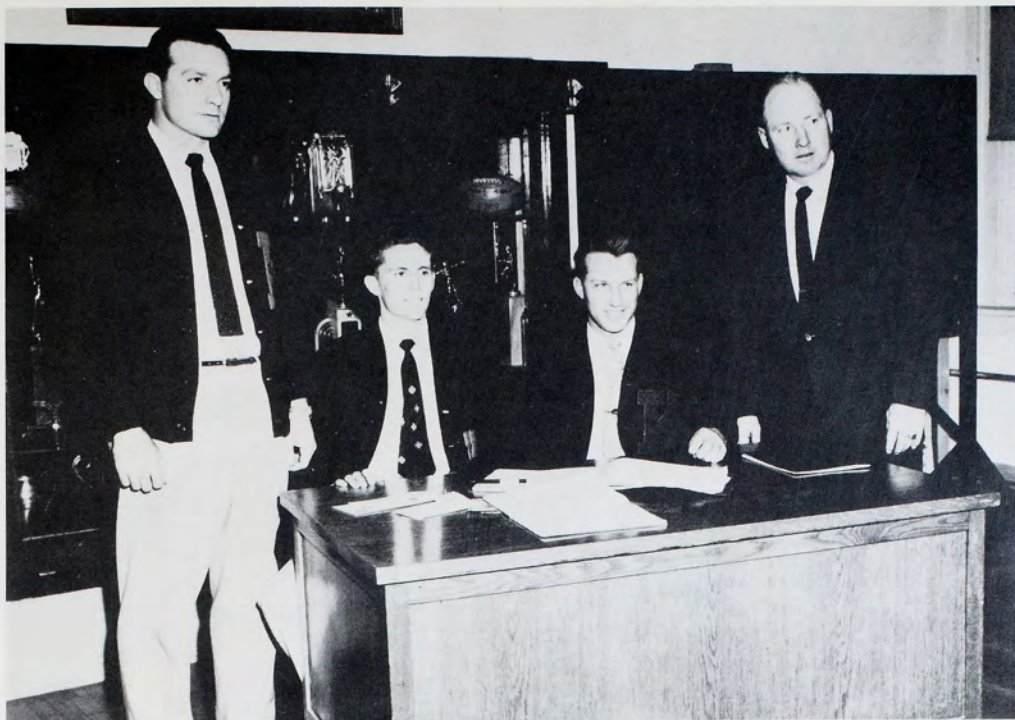

. . . start in September with football and the colors flying from the goal posts. Then, before the last mum has withered, the Tigers move onto the basketball court in the Coliseum. As the year continues so the sports continue — gymnastics, tennis, golf, and track. Aside from varsity sports, both men and women have fun through competition and the development of strong bodies in intramural games. Whatever the sport, the crowd is always in for thrills when the Fort Hays State Tigers combine forces to win a game.

The largest Homecoming crowd in the history of the college turned out on October 29th to cheer the team to victory.

"Fight! Tigers, Fight!" These cheerleaders encouraged pep at games: Kay Tucker, Carol Holsman, Wanda Woodrow, Dick Selensky, and Merrill Frydendall.

Fort Hays State's Cheerleaders

The trophy case makes a fitting background for men of sports. Officers of the K-Club: J. Sackrider, vice-president; D. Dwyer, secretary-treasurer; D. Russell, president; and Mr. Huffman, sponsor.

K-Club

The organization for all varsity lettermen, the K-Club, was closely allied with the athletic department both in its money-making projects and in its services.

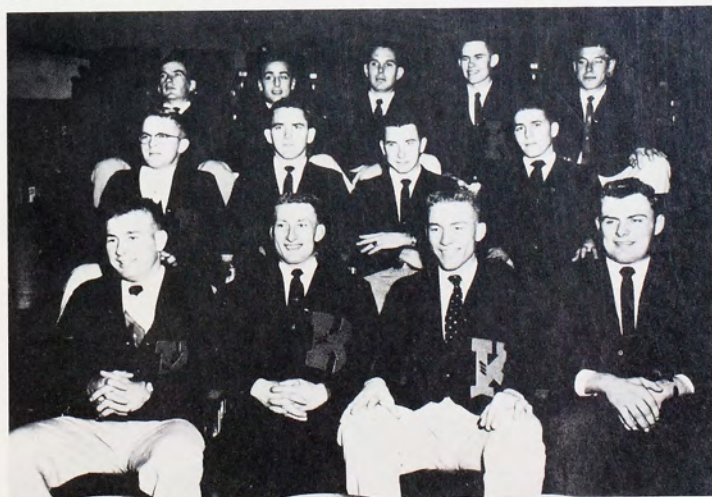

The big event of the year was the annual Homecoming dinner held for the 1914 Charter members of the K-Club at the Lamer Hotel. During games members worked as ushers and operated concessions stands. In addition to other activities, a newsletter was sent at the end of each season to former members informing them of Fort Hays State's athletic achievements in football, basketball, track, tennis, and golf.

Members lettering in at least one sport during college—R. Lousch, F. Tegtmeyer, B. Samples, and D. Johnson. Second row: J. Nieman, T. Young, D. Waters, and K. Reinert. Back row: S. Moore, G. Shroyer, and D. Shaw.

1955 Football

Two Tigers — Richard Lousch, fullback, and Bill Shipman, guard, — of the Fort Hays State football squad were chosen for these respective positions on the Topeka Daily Capital's 1955 CIC All-Star first team.

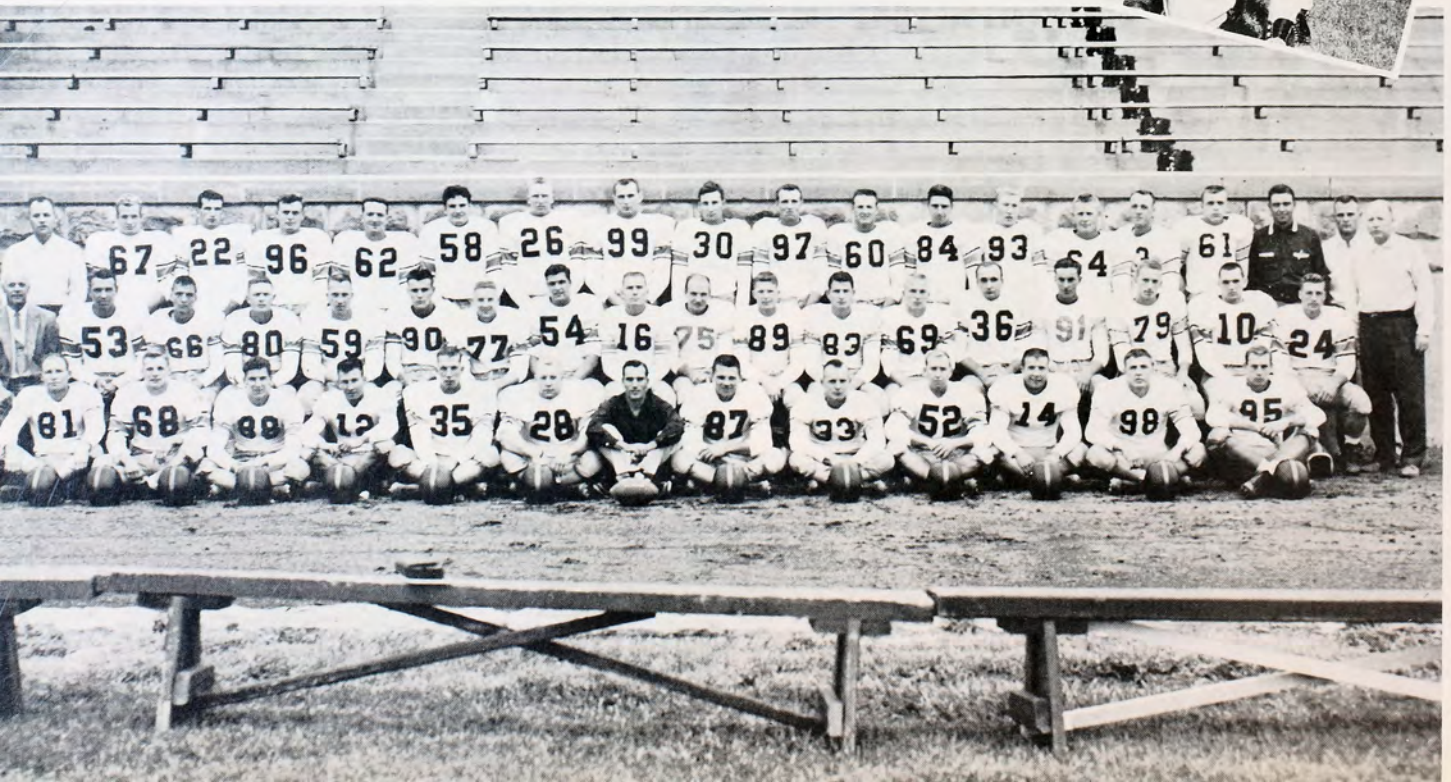

Lousch, one of the two seniors on the first eleven, was the individual rushing leader for the Tigers with an average of 53.2-yards carried per game. Shipman placed last year and was selected again this year for the same position on the All-Star team. He now has two football letters and two seasons yet to play.

Receiving places on the second team were Cletus Dreiling, end, and Otho Sweazy, halfback. If the two players had not missed so much action due to injuries suffered early in the season, they might have both placed on the first team. Sweazy was an All-League selection last year after his first season of play.

FHS 12 — Central Oklahoma State 19

In the first game of the 1955 season the Tigers received a 19-12 defeat from Central Oklahoma State at Edmond, Okla. Both Tiger touchdowns were set up by recovering Central Oklahoma's fumbles. The first was recovered by Ford Farber on the Bronco 16-yard line early in the first quarter. Several plays later it was carried over by Richard Lousch. The Central Oklahoma team scored three times before the Tigers again recovered a Bronco fumble on their own 14-yard line with three minutes in the game left. Otho Sweazy made the tally on an 11-yard run, but the spark came too late to pull the game out of the fire. The Tigers played a very good game against a very tough team which won the Oklahoma Collegiate Conference both last year and this year.

FHS 19 — Southwest Missouri 7

After their loss to Oklahoma, the Tigers, playing good ball, thoroughly trounced Southwest Missouri 19-7. The light rain which prevailed throughout the game was turned into an asset for the Tigers who recovered a slippery Bear fumble deep in their own territory on the second play of the game. Bill Shipman made the recovery and Toby Johnson carried the pigskin over to score with only two minutes gone in the first quarter. Two plays later the wet pigskin was again lost by the Bears and was recovered by the Tigers who tallied making the score 13-0. The jinxed Bears dropped the ball again in the second quarter and it was recovered by Hays. Richard Lousch broke away with a 53 yard run which was set up by a pass from Toby Johnson to Gilbert Pruyn for the final Hays TD. The only Missouri score was made in the last quarter on an eight yard run.

FHS 27 — Northwest Missouri 13

A week later, the powerful Bengals bucked another Missouri team, Northwest Missouri at Maryville, with a 27-13 win after a powerful fourth quarter drive.

FHS 7 — Southwestern 7

In their first Conference game of the year, the Hays Tigers met a tough Southwestern team and the two battled to a 7-7 tie. The Builders scored early in the first quarter and completed the extra point putting them ahead 7-0. The Tigers bounced back with a long pass from Toby Johnson to Clete Dreiling who carried the ball over. Gilbert Pruyn kicked the point to tie the game. Both teams tightened up in the succeeding quarters and neither was able to penetrate the defenses of the other. Although the Tigers did threaten once more when they marched to the Builders' 1-yard line, they were unable to cross the line and the game ended in a deadlock.

FHS 7 — Pittsburg State 13

On October 15th, the Tigers journeyed to Pittsburg where a rough Gorilla team handed them their first Conference defeat of 13-7. The Gorillas scored first in the first quarter and again in the second to lead the Tigers 13-0 at the half. The Tigers held the Pittsburg onrush in the third quarter and in the fourth period the Hays eleven roared out to pick up their only tally of the game.

The Bengals started their push too late to save the game although they got within the Pittsburg 10-yard line. The Gorilla line held and the clock ran out with the score standing 13-7.

FHS 32 — Emporia State 20

A large crowd of parents and students watched a high-scoring, exciting game in which the Hays Tigers came out with a 32-20 win over the Emporia Hornets for their first Conference win of this year. The first quarter was scoreless, but early in the second period Warren Alpers took a pitchout from Jim Casper and went 13 yards for the only TD of the first half. In the second half the game opened up with Hays scoring three touchdowns and Emporia one. It was highlighted by two very long punt returns. The first was by Toby Johnson who raced 68 yards and found paydirt and the second by a very promising freshman, Jim Maska, who threaded his way through Hornet tacklers for a 72-yard TD to end the third quarter with a 25-6 lead for the Tigers. In the fourth quarter the Hornets came back and scored a rapid succession of touchdowns to endanger the Hays lead, but the Tigers again scored and the gun sounded with the Bengals on top.

FHS 27 — St. Benedict's College 7

The Homecoming game with St. Benedict's was a Tiger runaway in which an outplayed Raven team was plagued throughout the game by one fumble after another, four of which resulted in Tiger TD's. Ironically, the only Raven touchdown resulted from a Tiger fumble. The dropping of the pigskin could be accredited to the light rain which fell intermittently during the game. All in all, the Tiger fans saw an outstanding game which topped off the Homecoming activities.

FHS 7 — Washburn University 27

The Tigers dropped the final game of the Conference to a hot Washburn team 27-7 to wind up in third place in the Conference race. The Bengals were held scoreless for two quarters while the Ichabods racked up 14 points. Early in the third period, Otho Sweazy scored and Floyd Tegtmeier made the conversion to put the Tigers back in the game with a 14-7 score. The Tigers were unable to follow up their advantage and the Ichabods scored twice more. The game ended with Washburn on top of the heap.

FHS 20 — Kearney State 12

For the final game of the 1955 season the Tigers polished off Kearney State 20-12; the second defeat for the tough Kearney Antelopes. Ford Farber drove over from the two — starting Hays scoring. Shortly after, the Antelopes tied it 6-6. To end the first quarter Otho Sweazy tallied from the four to bring the score to 13-6. The Antelopes scored once more to narrow the score to dangerous proportions, but reserve backs — Bob Samples and Drew Poorbaugh — teamed up to make the final score for the Fort Hays State Tigers.

It's Homecoming. Maska (77) carried the pigskin for yardage while Shipman (67) and Casper (14) cleared the way.

Farber (22) broke around the end sending the referee and others scampering.

Working with their big sisters — Tigerettes — the Kit Kats attended all games in a body and gave their full support to the teams. The club started last year with a handful of interested girls who wanted to have an all Freshmen girl's pep organization.

This year the Kit Kats had a membership of sixty — all of whom wore black sweaters and skirts with white collars to the games. Any freshman girl who wanted to be a part of this club was welcomed into the membership.

Tigerettes

Sitting together at games in their gold sweaters and dark skirts, the Tigerettes offered their support to the teams. Before each game the women ushered the varsity squad onto either the gridiron or the basketball court.

Membership was limited to upperclasswomen who were selected through club elections. During the sport seasons they gave their enthusiasm and good sportsmanship conduct to the Tigers from the start of football in September until the end of basketball in February.

Tigerettes had a special section reserved for them at all games. Descending the stairs two by two M. Walker and C. Jones, M. Mitchell and K. Brookhart, V. Taylor and J. Graver, J. Rouse and M. Elder, M. Rumbough and M. Geenen, and G. Fritsche and V. Rusco.

Basketball

The top Tiger rebounder and second highest scorer Joe Butcher, center, earned a place on the second All-CIC team named by the Topeka Daily Capital despite the fact he missed the last four games of the season because of an ankle injury.

Butcher was one of the five lettermen who returned from the previous season. From the floor Big Joe, 6-4, hit 42 per cent of his shots for the best shooting percentage of the team. These points, plus 70 per cent of his free throw attempts, gave him an average of 13.2 points per game.

High Tiger scorer for this year was Gary Panter. Panter was team leader from the free throw line, hitting 70 per cent of his shots. From the floor he had a 38 per cent mark to give him an average of 15.3 points per game.

Panter, a forward, was also second in rebounds.

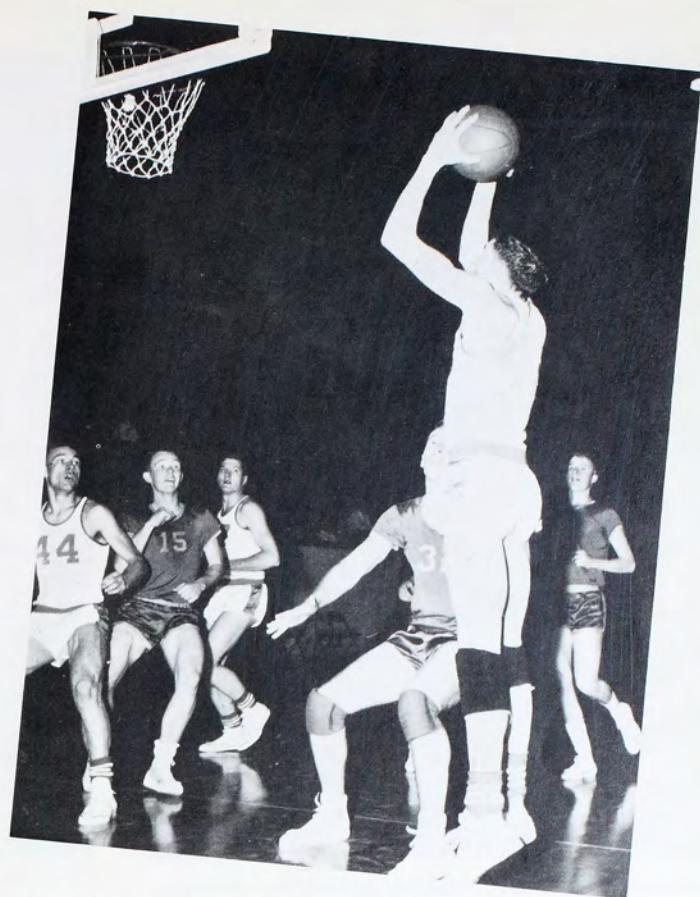

The new bus, purchased by the college, arrived in time to carry the basketball team on their road trips.

HAYS, DEC. 1 — A large crowd watched the new Tiger squad open the 1955-56 cage season with a hard-fought game against the Bulldogs from Southwestern Oklahoma.

The Tigers got off to a fast start and picked up an 8-3 lead early in the game. But the more experienced team from Southwestern held out and defeated them 66-61.

FORT HAYS STATE 83 WESTERN STATE 79

TIGERS DEFEAT TWO OKLAHOMA TEAMS

HAYS, DEC. 20—Fort Hays State Tigers met and defeated two Oklahoma teams the week before the students were dismissed for Christmas vacation to give them a record of three wins and two losses.

In the game with Central Oklahoma State, Artie Schippers dunked 22 points to lead his team to victory with a score of 78-68.

The Hays Tigers picked up an early lead and held it in the tussel with Phillips University, except for two short intervals.

With only four minutes gone the Tigers racked up a 20-11 lead which the Haymakers spent the remainder of the game trying to bridge. Game ended with Hays 85 and Phillips 77.

FORT HAYS STATE 82 WASHBURN 73

HAYS, JAN. 7—An upset occurred when the cellar-predicted Tiger squad trounced the Washburn Ichabods 82-73 in a game that saw the lead change hands 18 times in the second half.

FORT HAYS STATE 79 SOUTHWESTERN 94

WINFIELD, FEB. 4—The Mound-builders pulled up with a tie for the cellar by downing the Tigers in a tightly fought ball game ending with a score 94-79.

The Bengals kept very much in the game until the final 10 minutes of the fourth quarter. The club, weakened by illness, began to show the effects and couldn't keep up with the fast moving Builders.

The win tied Southwestern with St. Benedict's for the cellar with a 2-4 record.

FORT HAYS STATE 61 ST. BENEDICT'S 67

HAYS, FEB. 12—Frigid shooting Tigers fell to the fast improving St. Benedict's Ravens in a 67-61 battle.

FORT HAYS STATE 90
KANSAS CITY UNIVERSITY 72

KANSAS CITY, FEB. 19 — Fort Hays State Tigers broke their 8-game road jinx on their last road game of the season by trouncing the University of Kansas City 90-72.

Last night's clash with the Kangaroos ran much the same as the two team's first meeting.

K. C. University's team stayed in contention all the first half, but fell hopelessly behind as the Tigers began to hit and pull away.

FORT HAYS STATE 68
PITTSBURG STATE 87

HAYS, FEB. 25—The Tigers were caught in the CIC cellar along with Southwestern as the door closed on the 1955-56 season.

In the Tigers' final game of the year, the Pittsburg Gorillas, still smarting from a defeat that snapped their winning string of 22 games, weren't to be denied of their last game as they rolled past the Bengals 87-68.

Thus ended the basketball season for Fort Hays. To many sport writers the season record was a surprise for they had predicted FHS Tigers to be pushovers.

Track

The 1955 CIC Fort Hays Track team (runners-up) did very well for themselves during the season. They set three new CIC records, four new school records, and one of their cindermen, Don Dwyer, was named in the Track and Field News magazine as the tenth fastest 440-yard hurdler in the world.

Spotlighting the season were the new CIC and school records set by Jim Blackwell, Toby Johnson, and Jim Montgomery who set new marks in the shot putt and discus, javelin, and pole vault respectively.

Other track honors went to Laverne Lesser who came in first in the two-mile and became the CIC champion two-miler for the second straight year. Melvin Christensen walked off with second place in the javelin toss and Troy Young took second in the 100-yard dash. Dwyer placed second in the CIC high hurdles besides taking first in the Missouri Valley A.A.U., fourth in the N.A.I.A in Texas and in the National A.A.U. The two-mile team composed of Dwyer, Don Feist, Jim Nieman, and Bob Samples took third place in the K. U. relays.

Among the team honors, were the two wins in the two dual meets with Washburn and Kearney. The cindermen were second place holders in the Emporia relays and finished the season second in the CIC.

To show that this years' team was not a flash in the pan, it is interesting to note that in the past nine years the Tiger thinclads have never lost a dual meet, never received less than second place in the Emporia relays, and have never ended less than second in the CIC conference.

Fort Hays Kansas State College
Hays, Kansas

Attention: Virginia Horsett
Reveille Editor

It has been a highly appreciated honor for me to be asked to make the selection of the Fort Hays State College Queen and her two Princesses. The task of making the choice has been a long and difficult one and only after realizing that a singular choice must be made I have arrived at the following decisions:

Queen "WANDA WOODROW"

Princesses "CAROLYN HEINTZ" and "KATHLEEN SMITH"

I would like to offer my congratulations to the above entries and also my respects to the other contestants. I do feel that all the entries are examples of beauty found only in the mid-west.

Again thanking you for the honor of making the selections and the sincere pleasure of playing a dance date for the Fort Hays Kansas State College, I remain,

Very truly yours
Jimmy Palmer

Sororities & Fraternities

... always offers slumber parties, dances, dinners, outings, and pledge week activities. Each of the nine Greeks has a house and meets weekly on Monday nights. The common goal is the promotion of character, scholarship, and leadership. Cooperating in the service and entertainment projects of a congenial group gives a college student experience which trains him for community loyalties later on in life. Sororities and fraternities try to help each individual toward maintaining ethical and moral standards. Along with all the Greek work and fun comes lasting friendships — never to be forgotten.

The Alpha Sigma Alpha women had a pot full of ravens in a stew for their Homecoming dinner.

Year's Recipe

Add 6 versatile pledges to 12 activated actives; mix well. To these ingredients add: 1 new housemother; 1 Christmas dinner-dance; 1 wedding ring, and 5 engagement rings.

Blend in 2 National projects: Tri-Annual Convention in Biloxi, Miss. and State Day for Chapters of Kansas and Missouri.

For extra laughs add: 1 Wednesday morning when some joker turned all the alarms off and as a result, the Alphas were awakened by Mother Crotinger ringing a big cowbell.

Mix well for 1 school year.

Result: Alpha Sigma Alpha, a la 1956.

The Christmas dinner-dance was the big social event of the year. It was held in the Lamer hotel Fort Hays Room.

Hawaii Calls

Dear Tri Sigs,

I really miss sorority life. Naturally, I'm having fun in Hawaii, but it isn't the same without the coffee breaks, the card games, gab sessions, and the Alpha Gamma parties.

Did you all have fun during the Regional Meeting at Greeley, Colo? Congratulations on winning the first place plaque on your Homecoming float, the '55 scholarship award, and your brand new pledges. Bet Rush Week was loads of fun and full of excitement.

I know the Sigma Snowball and the spring formal dinner-dance were wonderful. Wish I had been there. The Christmas caroling and informal dances you had during the year sounded great.

Write soon.

Dotsie

Heading Panhellenic were: Shirley Conard, Marie Elder, secretary; Barbara Sackrider, president; Rhetis Wickizer, and Phyllis Watkins, treasurer.

Panhellenic Council

Panhellenic Council functions for the purpose of governing the four social sororities on the campus. Every sorority woman, pledge, and alumnae is a member of this national organization.

The creed of Panhellenic: "We, the fraternity undergraduate members, stand for good scholarship, for guarding of good health, for wholehearted cooperation with our college's ideals for student life, for the maintenance of fine social standards, and for the serving, to the best of our ability, of our college community. Good college citizenship, as a preparation for good citizenship, in the large world of alumnae days is the ideal that shall guide our chapter activities."

At the beginning of the year, members compiled a Sorority Handbook which they passed out to all the freshman girls at the "Powder Puff" party. This party gave prospective pledges the chance to become acquainted with sorority women.

Between semesters and at the end of the year, the annual Panhellenic Scholarship Award Dessert was given by these members.

Two other big projects of the year included the All-Greek formal and raising money for a foreign student scholarship.

Inter-Fraternity Council strives to promote good fellowship among the five fraternities by encouraging the chapters to work together and to take an active part in all college functions. Members work hard to stress the importance of the value of fraternity life for every college student.

The council helps to sponsor several activities for the benefit of the greeks of the college such as the All-Greek formal, the All-Greek sing, and the Greek conclave.

They present a Scholarship Trophy to the fraternity having

Inter-Fraternity Council

the highest grade point average for each semester.

At their meetings of the first and third Tuesday of each month, the men, two from each fraternity, work together to issue rules and regulations for rush weeks. The council sets up the time and restrictions for the traditional Smoker held at each frat house at the beginning of the rush periods.

This year the members of Inter-Fraternity Council laid plans for a new fraternity to be established on the campus next fall.

Members of the governing body: Glenn Thomas, Jim Green, and Dick Selensky. Back row: Wesley Wikoff, Dave Beckwith, and Phil Erickson.

Delta Sigma Phi fraternity welcomed everyone to step up and see the sport show which ran during Homecoming weekend.

Teke Hour Dances made a big hit with members of all four sororities.

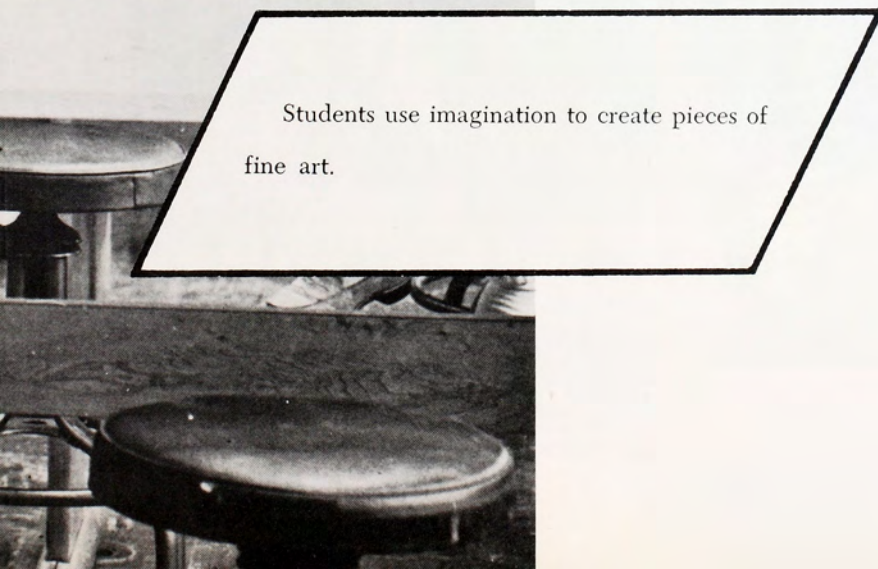

Campus Life

. . . would not be complete without the forty-five clubs and organizations of Fort Hays State. These clubs, whether literary, honorary, or creative, have varied activities appealing to many students. The departmental clubs provide diversity of interest. When a student's evening is not filled with a special engagement or a game then he may be found at a club meeting. There is always something to do and Staters are always doing something.

Students use imagination to create pieces of fine art.

Whether writing letters, taking pictures, or laying out pages a yearbook staff's work is never done! Heading the staff was V. Hogsett, editor; G. Martin, assistant editor; and Miss Loomis, sponsor. Standing M. Pittman, photographer; M. Ely, assistant business manager; and G. Pauley, business manager.

Reveille

Putting the Reveille together for publication takes a lot of hard work, time, and worry on the part of the staff members. It requires the cooperation of two thousand people—the entire student body and the faculty of Fort Hays State. Scheduling pictures to be taken; working in the darkroom developing and printing pictures; drawing a dummy and later the final pages; writing copy; and finally proof reading the whole book; all go together to make a yearbook.

In return for the cooperation of the student body, faculty, and staff members; Fort Hays State has a complete record of the college year. As the pages of the Reveille are turned, members of the yearbook staff hope that students will recall with pride and pleasure the memories of their college life.

Members of an annual staff must be willing to work. V. Pratt, faculty and administration pages; O. Connley, sororities and fraternities pages; B. Cox and J. Bauer, students pages; and W. Dunn and A. Morgan, campus life pages—all put in many hours of labor.

Paper dolls! Well, sometimes staff members—G. Ulrich and A. Trachsel, sport pages; and J. Cooper, assistant photographer—were overworked.

Folding papers for distribution is a big job. Everybody chips in to help. V. Hogsett, reporter; W. Merkel, assistant business manager; M. Aksamit, reporter; and D. Merkel, business manager.

Every Wednesday the paper goes to bed, supposedly. Staff members working in the Printshop—P. Vogel, feature writer; E. McGee, reporter; A. Walters, reporter; and M. Hobbie, assistant editor.

State College Leader

Students hurrying in and out of the News Service Office with pencils and paper in their hands from eight o'clock to four o'clock usually belong to the Leader Staff. From one week to the next reporters interviewed, wrote copy, took pictures, read proof, and made up the paper in the Printshop. Many trials and tribulations were behind each story appearing in this all-student publication.

Staff members had a feeling of accomplishment as issues were distributed on Thursdays. Many letters and comments to the editor indicated that the Leader has become an integral part of campus life.

Good proof reading is essential for newspapers. Mr. Benson, sponsor, points out corrections to D. Eulert, special news reporter; A. Morgan, sports page; N. Moody, editor; V. Pratt, society page; and G. Tuttle, reporter; looked over the week's issue.

Serving as officers for this year were C. Griffin, treasurer; C. Holsman, secretary; J. Mildrexler, president; and Dr. Martin, sponsor.

Campus Boosters

Between forty and forty-five members of the Campus Boosters Council — one representative from each organization and club of the college — met every Tuesday to discuss and plan for the promotion of school spirit.

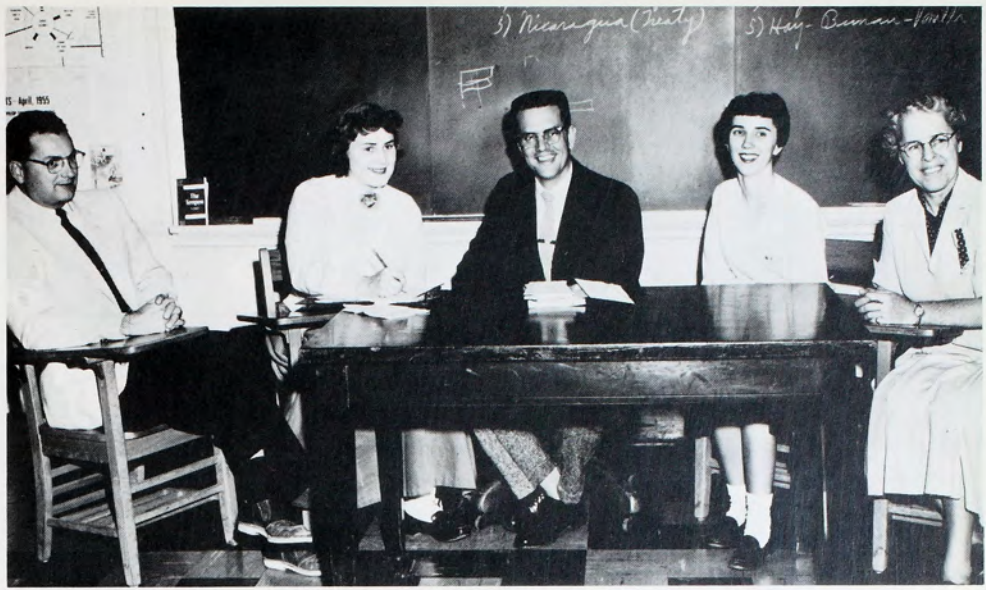

Early in the year the members began helping with pep assemblies. When Homecoming weekend rolled around, these students organized both the pre-game snake dance down Main Street and the big bonfire. In the spring they sponsored the annual dance for the high school seniors who attended Career Day. Members also helped with the activities on Corral Day.

Everyone offered suggestions for campus improvements. Discussing a problem: S. Michaelis, G. Miller, M. Morlan, J. Cox, J. Kasson, I. Sloan, and C. McReynolds.

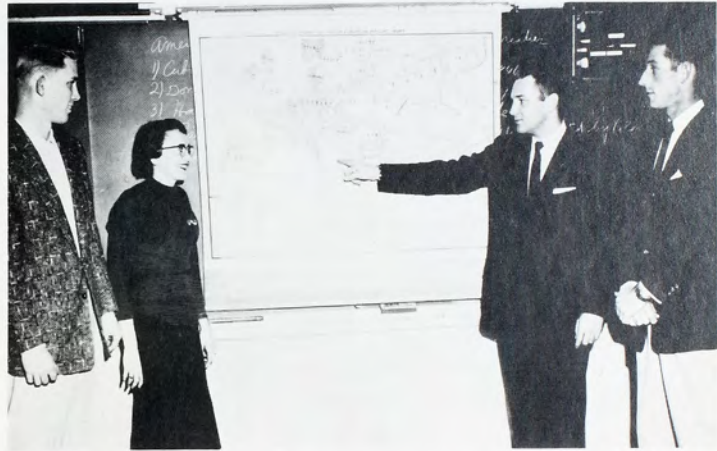

Conducting meetings—Dr. Craine, sponsor; M. Evans, secretary-treasurer; E. Kaiser, president; M. Stagg, vice-president; and Miss Beesley, sponsor.

U. N. Educational-Scientific-Cultural Organization

Every year UNESCO — I.R.C. offers a scholarship to a foreign student. To raise funds members sponsor Lear Week in February. This year UNESCO brought Miss Young Soon Lee of Seoul, Korea to the campus.

At meetings members discussed the customs, education and cultural ways of life found in various countries. They sponsored individual speakers, panel groups, and films to any off campus organization requesting them. Membership was made up of representatives of all campus clubs and organizations.

Foreign students may come from any country to attend college if they are sponsored by UNESCO. Members looked over an European map and agreed that Italy might have some possibilities. J. Snider, J. Tribble, G. Lindner, and K. Kibbe.

Collegiate 4-H Club

Collegiate 4-H Club gives former 4-H members and other students a chance to continue their activities, achievements, and goals. This organization is affiliated with the State of Kansas 4-H organization.

Members carried on an extensive program of helping in training schools, giving speeches, showing projects, judging in high school and county shows, and judging the County Record Books that go to the State Fair. They offered services to both the Ellis County high school clubs and the Hays Experiment Station. Their biggest project of the year was to sponsor the Kansas District Square dancing winners in a spring assembly.

Posing for the Reveille photographer were: Miss Beesley, sponsor; H. Skov, J. Graver, treasurer; R. Long, V. Merz, vice-president; and Miss Newbecker, sponsor.

Home Economics Club

Many girls when they hear home economics mentioned immediately think of cooking and sewing. But cooking and sewing are only a part of the Home Economics field. Women majoring in this course have the chance to work in Foods and Nutrition (dietetics), Clothing and Related Arts (merchandising), and General Home Economics (teaching).

Membership of this club was enlisted from women enrolled in at least one departmental class. During meetings members visited businesses in Hays and received first hand information on interior decorating, the latest fashions, and the newest household appliances. Several representatives attended the Kansas University Workshop in the fall.

Meetings were held in the Function Room of the Applied Arts building. Seated on the front row: E. Coowley, B. Jackson, L. Patterson, and K. Yost. Second row: A. Jeffries, J. Peterson, J. Whitley, P. Wilson, and S. Walker. Back row: N. Imel, S. Gibson, C. Rasmussen, F. Luse, and M. Schumacher.

Engineers Club

Pre-engineers, who take sixty-eight to seventy-two hours of credit, attend Fort Hays State for only two years and then must transfer to some other university or college to complete their study.

Members took trips to the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Company. Representatives from these companies and others often attended the Tuesday night meeting to show films and answer questions of the prospective engineers.

D. Palmer explains "What every young engineer should know." In his audience—W. Windle, B. Arkle, and D. Marvin. Back row: M. Steinle, L. Law, B. Munsell, and G. Marple.

Mathematics Club

Although most students have a phobia of mathematics courses, the math majors become quite adept at differentiating, integrating, and juggling Greek letters. Members spend meeting time discussing and working out higher-level mathematical problems.

Reviewing of a thesis was a special treat at meetings and unusually interesting when the graduate students showed how problems were solved through photographs.

Does the problem have an answer? Ask E. Kluber, P. Dean, M. Rumpel, C. Leiker, J. Beougher, L. Beougher, E. Miller, and J. Alderman.

Nursing Club

October 29th of the 1955 year went down in history as the Graduation Day of the college's first Nursing class, for on that day ten young ladies out of the sixteen which began together in September of 1952 completed the requirements for a diploma in Nurse Education. The diploma, presented by President M. C. Cunningham, enables the women to practice as graduate nurses.

The Fort Hays Nursing Club was organized for the purpose of bringing nursing students together to learn social, spiritual, cultural, and professional services in the medical field. From this group five members represented the college at the Student Nurse's Association of Kansas at Hutchinson in the fall.

A good nurse knows her medicine. C. Griffin sterilizes a thermometer while J. Robinson, vice-president, pours out some cough syrup and N. Winkler, treasurer, prepares a hypodermic syringe.

Pre-medical Club

Out of the Pre-medical Club will come some of tomorrow's doctors, dentists, nurses and medical technologists. Requirements of these members for admission to schools of medicine vary from two years of college training to a bachelor's degree. Within the college hours, in either case, certain courses are specifically required in chemistry, biology, and zoology.

In meetings members were given the opportunity of seeing professional movies and hearing doctors discuss the latest problems and advancements in the medical field. Trips were made to Hadley and St. Anthony Hospitals and to clinics to show members the laboratories and medical personnel in actual practice.

French Club

For those who planned to receive a Bachelor of Arts degree, the catalogue states: "A student must have nine hours of a foreign language." So many students enrolled in French and joined "La Cercle Francais."

During the meetings members conversed in French when talking or learning songs and plays. Special luncheons and supper parties were held on the campus and in homes. Although many students complain that studying a foreign language is useless, members of the club will vouch for the importance of it for anyone planning to travel through Europe or to understand his neighbor in this shrinking world.

German Club

In order to be near a food supply, members of the German Club have their meetings in the kitchen of the Applied Arts building. Varied programs dressed up the year. They invited foreign students to speak at meetings, listened to German records to evaluate them, and spent time studying the culture aspects of the German people.

The Frau Golden scholarships which lends money to needy students was sponsored by this club.

A young man's heart is often in the kitchen. This perhaps explains what C. Deeter, A. Janousek, D. Fiel, and D. Voth were doing there.

Second Generation Club members were honored to have two third generation students—Carl Wells and Barbara Fellers—join them this year.

Second Generation Club

As the name implies those who belonged to the Second Generation Club were students whose parents attended Fort Hays State. This year the membership reached 225; the second largest club on the campus.

Members served as the public relations group for any large campus function. During Parents Day they helped with registration and took small groups on tours of the college buildings. These students also assisted with the Homecoming activities in October. Acting as president of the club was Marie Elder and the two sponsors were Mrs. Landrum and Dr. Tomanek.

Dwight D. Eisenhower
President of the United States

Veterans Club

Last year the Veterans Club was organized with sixteen charter members. Today this club has a membership of over 180.

The big project of the club was the souvenir stands which they operated at Homecoming and on Parents Day. The men sold college pennants and corsages at their stands and from the profits started a scholarship fund.

The Veterans were proud to welcome President Dwight D. Eisenhower as the first honorary member of their club.

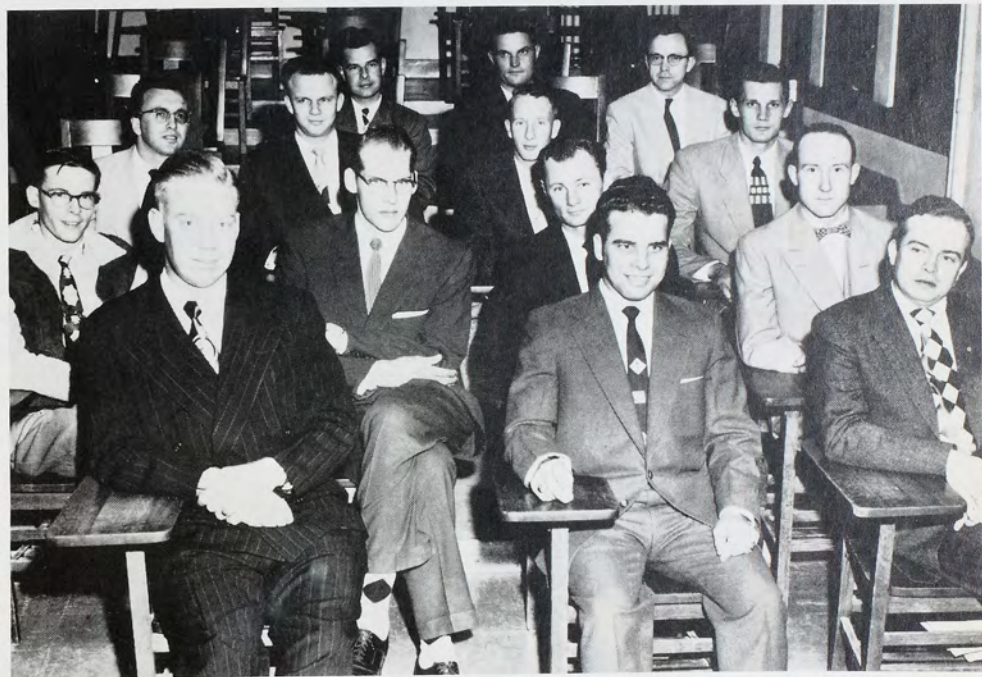

This club is one of the newer groups on the campus and it has taken an active and important place among the college organizations. These men were truly workers and can never be called "combat-fatigued veterans."

Political and foreign affairs were topics of discussion at meetings. G. Lindner, president; jotted down notes for a panel while Dr. Craine, sponsor; L. Hellmer, vice-president; and R. Dixon, secretary-treasurer, looked on.

International Relations Club

At their bi-monthly meetings I. R. C. members had the opportunity to discuss world happenings, their causes, and their possible effects. Members formed panel discussions on films and on the opinions of guest speakers, keeping alert with the affairs of the United States and abroad. They also presented a fifteen-minute program on "The World Today" over KAYS Radio Station.

Membership into the club was obtained through election. A large delegation attended the Governor's Conference held in Hutchinson in the fall.

Future Teachers of America

Future Teachers of America offers to prepare the prospective teacher with the problems that he will face when teaching. D. Burnett was president of the 285 members and Dr. White and Miss Davis were the sponsors.

This year a guest speaker told members of the trends in modern teaching, core curriculum, and audio-visual education.

Members served as hosts to all educational conventions held on the campus including the two-day Kansas State Teachers Association meeting.

"School Days, school days," was the theme of the annual fall tea and the orderly class room of faculty women and Dames Club members made life really worth living for the teacher.

Dames Club

Wives of married students gathered together twice a month for meetings in the Applied Arts building. Early in the fall they adopted a mother and her five small children as a civic project and sent a Thanksgiving dinner to them. At Christmas time members made and purchased gifts for the children. They also took a tree to the home and decorated it.

The big program of the year was given by the faculty wives for Dames Club members in Cody Commons entitled "School Days."

Women's Recreational Association

W. R. A. provided recreation for college women and presented a well-balanced program of team and individual sports throughout the year. In carrying out their program, tournaments were held in speed-a-way, basketball, volleyball, and softball; for those who excelled in individual sports there was plenty of competition in tennis, swimming, golf, badminton, table tennis, and shuffleboard.

Points were earned in these different sports for a sweater, "K" pin, and a college blanket. Members kept themselves busy raising money for three physical education scholarships and sponsoring both Play Day and Sports Day.

Scriblerus Club

Members of the Scriblerus Club sponsor the "Sheaf," a magazine of creative writing done by students and faculty of the campus. This was the second year for the publication which was printed in the college Printshop. Contents of the "Sheaf" range from short stories to character sketches, poetry, one-act plays, and essays. Selections were chosen by a faculty committee in the English department.

The aims of this club were: encouragement of student writing, the assistance of student writers through comments on their manuscripts, and the development of interest in writing.

Theta Epsilon - Baptist Women

On the first Tuesday of each month members of Theta Epsilon met at their patronesses homes to work on various church projects.

One undertaking for the year was making quilt blocks for home mission work. The big project was the adoption of an Indian girl from Bacone College in Oklahoma.

Gamma Delta - Lutheran Students

Members of Gamma Delta purchased church signs and placed them around Hays along with soliciting pamphlets for the Messiah Lutheran Church this year.

Wednesday night meetings were scenes of discussions and guest-speaker talks. The social calendar included a Christmas caroling party and other informal get togethers.

Wesley Foundation

Wesley Foundation's purpose is to deepen, enrich, and mature the Christian faith of college men and women. It offers students who have entered the adult world a chance to develop an ecumenical understanding of the Methodist Church and its religious activities.

Members met on Sunday, Wednesday, and Friday of each week at the church. On Sunday they attended their own college Sunday school class and a supper in the evening followed by a Vesper Service and a discussion session. Wednesday was devoted to a general meeting and the Friday meeting was recreational night. Special projects included raising money for missionary activities, sending students to work in church camps and on caravans, helping to support the Methodist Children's Home in Newton, and assisting with church services.

Sunday evening meetings were held in the First Methodist Church of Hays.

Group singing was a must at every meeting.

A good attendance always turned out for a dance.

Meetings were held in the large Science building room. This provided an excellent place to have informal dances.

Newman Club

The Newman Club, an association of Catholic students, began this year's activities with an informal dance and then swung into its regular program of meeting every first and third Wednesday nights. During their meetings

Fathers would give talks on religious instructions and answer questions of the members.

Members had several breakfasts together after they attended Communion at St. Joseph's Church of Hays.

Young Women's Christian Association

Dedicating themselves to the highest purposes of Christian living, Y. W. C. A. offered the campus and the community diversified activities and services.

During meetings members discussed religious beliefs and customs of far off countries. Miss Stroup, who was a nurse in Korea, attended one of the meetings and told the girls of the customs in Japan and Korea. Some of the meetings were devoted to packing Thanksgiving food boxes, gathering old clothes for the Salvation Army, and making hand puppets for the children in the Hays hospitals.

Young Men's Christian Association

"Inspiration is found in worship and fellowship." The Y. M. C. A., national and world wide in all Christian countries, strives to maintain the highest standards in work and service.

On campus they offered a valuable service to the students each semester by operating the Book Exchange in Picken Hall. The members met each week for devotions, Bible studies, and to hear speakers on religious problems. For recreation, they enjoyed movies, swimming, and picnics.

Heading the Y. M. C. A. this year were B. Stutterheim, treasurer; B. Baldwin, and M. Breathouwer, secretary. Standing: Dr. Hamilton, sponsor; T. Dibble, president; V. Sprick, vice-president; A. Campbell, and G. Parr.

Kappa Phi - Methodist Women

Any woman student who was a member of a Methodist Church or who by preference attends the First Methodist Church in Hays while at college was eligible to belong to Kappa Phi. The aim of this organization: "Every Methodist woman in the University world today, a leader in the Church of tomorrow." Since 1916 Kappa Phi has grown from one chapter at Kansas University to thirty-three national chapters across the United States.

Members participated in such activities as helping in the Church nursery each Sunday, sending toys to orphanages at Christmas time, caroling at hospitals and for shut-ins during the holidays, and packing boxes of food for needy families. In April members attended a Kora meeting in Pittsburg.

Sigma Theta Epsilon - Methodist Men

Sigma Theta Epsilon, a national organization, strives to promote a closer Christian fellowship among men of Methodist preference, and to further the development of high moral standards in college men to the betterment of student life and the future leadership of the church. Their motto: "We are workers together with God through the church."

Members joined with their sister organization, Kappa Phi, in helping during Sunday services at the First Methodist Church, Christmas caroling, and in civic projects. The well-rounded year's program was designed to offer church affiliation and build worthy citizens.

Meetings were held in the Wesley Foundation sanctuary of the church. Standing in the front row: L. Windle, R. Stutterheim, L. Vincent, vice-president; E. Gillispie, D. Palmer, treasurer; and G. DeVore, secretary. Back row: N. Messinger, G. Geenen, A. Morgan, president; W. Merkel, and D. Lamb.

Band shows specially arranged for the FHS "Marching 100" and led my drum major Polly Palmer, resulted in outstanding half-time entertainment for football spectators. Majorettes included: B. Sedgwick, C. Eaton, A. Horak, D. Stout, and V. Flipsie.

Band

Fort Hays State's band is truly versatile! Under the direction of Harold Palmer, assistant professor of music, the band was first a marching band for home games during the fall when it presented half-time programs. The "Marching 100" divided into two 50-member pep bands for basketball season, and were directed by student conductors Bill Bolton and Polly Palmer.

Next, the musicians formed a concert band. A "Pop Concert" for the students and a more formal one for the public were added to the band's agenda.

During the spring it turned into a touring band playing in many Kansas communities.

Orchestra

The personnel of the Hays College Community Orchestra was comprised of college students and faculty, advanced high school students, and towns-people.

During the year the orchestra presented a fall and spring concert. In addition to these, a Concerto Concert was presented during the month of February to give student soloists an opportunity to appear with the orchestra. The orchestra was conducted by Mr. Ballinger, Assistant Professor of Music.

Brass Choir

The Brass Choir members were musicians of both traditional and Dixieland music. Between their out of town tours, the choir played for church programs at Christmas and Easter time and gave other public appearances. Personnel included: D. Lippe, B. Bolton, W. Howe, J. Strobel, F. Elder, D. Petty, B. Gleason, and J. Kobler. The choir was under the direction of Mr. Bartholomew, instructor of music.

Concert Choir

The college Concert Choir, composed of sixty-two voices and under the direction of C. Thomas Barr, professor of music and Chairman of Department, began its busy musical schedule by singing for the KSTA meeting and then entertaining at the Phi Mu Alpha province Convention.

In December the choral group performed in the Christmas Vespers program. Members journeyed on two road trips this year—one, a one-day tour of four towns, and the other, a three-day tour of eleven towns.

During the spring months the Concert Choir sang at several Hays service clubs' meetings, participated in a student assembly and a home concert, and closed the year with its final performance at Baccalaureate.

Fort Hays Singers

Selections sung by the Fort Hays Singers always have a contemporary musical appeal. The Singers choose numbers from varied periods of music, and include folk songs and spirituals. The group toured high schools and acted as a small entertainment organization for programs and dinners. Singers were: P. Watkins, L. Janzen, M. Brack, V. Harper, D. Atkeson, S. Morris, N. Hayes, L. Heitschmidt, J. Rader, D. Moses, V. Binder, S. Kullbom, R. Van De Wege, G. DeVore, E. Dryden, C. Beltz, M. Burris, R. Gish, and D. Schurz. They were under the direction of Mr. Stout, assistant professor of music.

Back row: D. Brensing, M. Grimes, V. Rohan, L. Heitschmidt, C. Fowler, L. Wilson, D. Burnett, Fountain, C. Beltz, and D. Moses.

Male Quartet

Popular demand kept the members of the Male Quartet busy appearing on radio and television; and for concerts and service clubs. During the year, the men of note—Charles Evans, Glenn Ginther, Loren Wilson, and Charles Beltz—performed on the average of two engagements a week. Mr. Barr accompanied and directed the quartet.

An inveterate practical joker, Eben Hawkins, (C. Beltz) deserved to be locked out by his wife Mariah, (N. Hayes) for being such a "Prankster."

Evening of Opera

Music students presented the two operas—"The Prankster" by Robert Wykes and "The Magic Flute" by Mozart—early in March for the college and the public.

"The Prankster" was a light comic opera showing the practical jokes a husband likes to pull on his wife—never thinking that they will backfire.

"The Magic Flute" was the story of two men in search of their loves and the severe tests they had to overcome before they were united with their lovers and accepted into the community.

Members of the orchestra accompanied the singers and Mr. Stout, assistant professor of music, was the director.

Papageno (L. Janzen) fulfilled his life's ambition when he found his Papagena (L. Barstow). Helpers in the love-match were the three spirits—(M. Burris, P. Watkins, and V. Binder).

Pamina (V. Harper) was held captive by slaves—Monostatos (G. DeVore), slave dancers (M. Walk and D. Burandt), and slave (G. Shroyer).

The High Priest of the temple of wisdom, Sarastro (L. Heitschmidt) entered the courtyard in a sedan chair.

Papageno listens to Tamino (C. Evans) tell of his love for Pamina.

Music Educators National Conference

M. E. N. C. is a musical branch of the National Education Association which is a professional organization for teachers.

The calendar for the year featured a State Convention held in Wichita during November. Six members of this chapter attended. At meetings in December the group worked on the reading and singing of the Messiah and other Christmas music. In January and February the members studied visual aid films for teaching. The beginning of spring brought recitals and music contests.

The highlight of the year was the visit of a Province officer. Seated with Miss Mary Jane Waggoner, Province president; Miss Felten, sponsor; and N. Hayes, president. Standing—S. Garrison, F. Elder, C. Chaffee, secretary; J. Rader, E. Dryden, vice-president; G. Miller, treasurer; and J. Neff.

Sigma Alpha Iota - National Music Fraternity

The big meeting of the year was on the night of the visit of Miss Mary Jane Waggoner, Province president of S. A. I. from the University of Nebraska. A dinner was served in Cody Commons followed by a musical number and initiation services. The evening ended with a regular business meeting.

Whenever a musical program was on the campus, the S. A. I. actives were on hand to offer their services. During the State and District music festivals they sold pop; for recitals and concerts they served as ushers.

Must be a funny song! Singing—G. Follet, N. Moody, P. Palmer, E. Dryden, N. Hayes, L. Wolfram, S. Garrison, C. Chaffee, and J. Neff. P. Boekhaus accompanied the girls.

Phi Mu Alpha - Music Fraternity

Alpha Phi chapter of Phi Mu Alpha, national music fraternity, was host to the Province Seven Convention November 13-14. Province Seven covers ten universities and colleges throughout Kansas and Missouri. During the Convention thirteen Fort Hays State men were initiated into the fraternity. The guest speaker at the Monday banquet was Dr. John C. Kendel who is a member of the Chicago American Music Conference.

Members formed their own dance band this year, played for college dances, gave a jazz concert, and held a recital in the spring.

Meetings were held in rooms of the coliseum. Left to right: L. Howe, secretary, J. Mall, B. Gleason, vice-president; B. Bolton, president; D. Petty, and B. Barstow, treasurer.

Women's Leadership Organization

W. L. O. members consisted of women who have given their best in scholarship and leadership while attending college. All members must qualify on these two points to be eligible to join. They were selected through an election by faculty members.

The big project of the year was the sponsoring of the Benefit basketball game held in December. Proceeds went into the new student union fund. Just before the members left for Christmas vacation they donated the tree they had put in the Library to the children's ward at St. Anthony Hospital.

Selling tickets for the Benefit basketball game. M. Geenen sold the first ticket to Miss Morrison, sponsor. M. Elder and Miss Parish, sponsor, looked over posters which were placed around the campus. Miss Lacey, sponsor, awaited her turn and G. Miller, and M. Hiebert counted out tickets.

Santa's helpers—M. North, M. Thompson, N. Moody, N. Hayes, L. Wolfram, and J. Kobler decorated the tree in the Library before the holidays.

The line of five includes: Mr. Dalton, sponsor; D. Bray, president; D. Scott, secretary-treasurer; M. Steinle, and T. Maglaras.

Student Directories were assembled by the members. Seated: B. Sandmeyer, vice-president; B. Blanchard, J. Hazen, D. Scott, G. Lindner, J. Green, and R. Hoffman. Standing: R. Scott, and D. Bray.

Seventh Cavalry

What is so rare as a 7th Cavalry man? For, in truth, he is a two-headed man — with one head for activities and another for classes. These men offered their services in ushering at the Artist and Lecture programs, selling pop corn at varsity games, and compiling and assembling the Student Directories at the beginning of the year. From the proceeds of their money-making projects the members offer four scholarships yearly.

New members are always elected in the spring by the present membership on the basis of leadership and scholarship. Total membership is limited to fifteen.

Men of dark suits—J. Green, G. Lindner, D. Dwyer, R. Hoffman, C. Fowler, D. Burnett, B. Blanchard, and B. Sandmeyer.

Creative artists: M. Elder, A. Hilton, secretary; J. Harris, L. Goetz, president; and C. Kimball. Standing: J. Karracker, vice-president, Mr. Thorns, sponsor; and K. Lowry.

Kappa Pi-Art

Embryo Picassos of Kappa Pi were given the opportunity to display their talent in technical, commercial, and industrial art during the Student Art Exhibit held the last of April. The national honorary society was sponsor of this art exhibit and each member contributed several pieces of work. It was also opened to other students in the Art department.

Winding up the year was the Artist's Ball with members and their dates attending in costumes. Prizes were given to the most creatively costumed individual and couple.

Kappa Omicron Phi-Home Economics

The women of Kappa Omicron Phi, national honorary society, might be called the hostesses of Fort Hays State because whenever there was a dinner or tea for any club or organization at the college they did the serving. At the beginning of the year members gave a tea for all women enrolled in the Home Economics department. Then toward the end of the spring semester they served refreshments to the high school seniors attending the college Career Day.

Not only were these members excellent hostesses, but they were also good seamstresses. The women made and furnished the white uniform aprons for the "foods" classes.

Initiation services were held before Christmas. Posing together—C. Kullbom, J. Janousek, C. Rasmussen, treasurer; M. Hiebert, secretary; A. Elias, and M. Geenen. Back row: M. Heberlee, president; N. Zook, J. Graver, R. Long, E. Asher, J. Witt, N. Imel, Miss Beesley, sponsor; S. Gibson, vice-president; and E. Robertson.

Delta Epsilon - Science

Delta Epsilon, national honorary society, is composed primarily of members from the departments of agriculture, geology, psychology, general science, and zoology.

Graduate students, seniors, and juniors who were outstanding students and have a high scholastic average in the mentioned fields were elected into the organization in the spring. One big project the members work on each year is helping with the State Junior Academy of Science Association.

Kappa Mu Epsilon - Mathematics

Membership into this mathematics fraternity was based on the following qualifications: grade point of 2.00 in mathematics; a 1.75 over all grade point; and the majority vote of the active members. Students entering the organization must have completed analytical geometry which is offered in the sophomore year. Several faculty members participate in this organization. During meetings members presented various papers before the group for analysis.

Representatives from Kappa Mu Epsilon, national honorary society, attended a regional meeting at William Jewell College in Liberty, Mo., in April.

Pi Kappa Delta-Forensic

Pi Kappa Delta ranks as the largest national honor society among the speech organizations of colleges and universities.

Students belonging participated in various inter-collegiate forensic contests during the year. When the Annual District

High School Speech Contest was held on the campus, the members of this organization acted as judges, timers, and general chairmen. They also offered their services at the Speech Clinic held in the fall.

Alpha Psi Omega -Dramatics

"Curtain going up in five minutes!" The stage managers hurried with sets, lights, and numerous details while other stage personnel put on actor's make-up and helped them into their costumes. Then the managers took their place in the wings and the show began.

Whenever a stage performance was given at the college the members of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity, became the house managers' as well as some of the actors.

Phi Kappa Phi

Scholarship

The purpose of the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi is the recognition of scholarship among students of American colleges and universities. The local chapter recognizes outstanding students of our college by inviting them to become members of this nation-wide honor society.

Each year several juniors, seniors, and graduate students, who are in the upper 12½% of their class, are issued invitations to Phi Kappa Phi. Election implies scholarship in the broadest sense of the word—not in the narrow confines of a grade point average alone. But through participation in activities and outstanding service for the college.

Dial 'M' For Murder

DIAL 'M' FOR MURDER, a tense melodrama, was presented by the Picken Players November 14, 15, and 18th.

The play presented the problems of a husband, Tony Wendice, who thought he could lead a much better life on his wife's money if she were out of his way. His plot to kill Mrs. Wendice backfired, and he instead became the instigator of the murder of his "friend" Captain Lesgate.

Suspense, comedy, and well written characterizations kept this play on Broadway for a long run and also intrigued the audiences in Picken Auditorium.

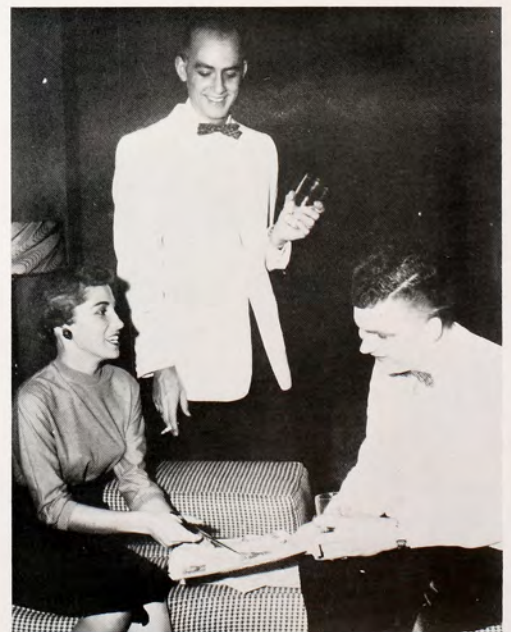

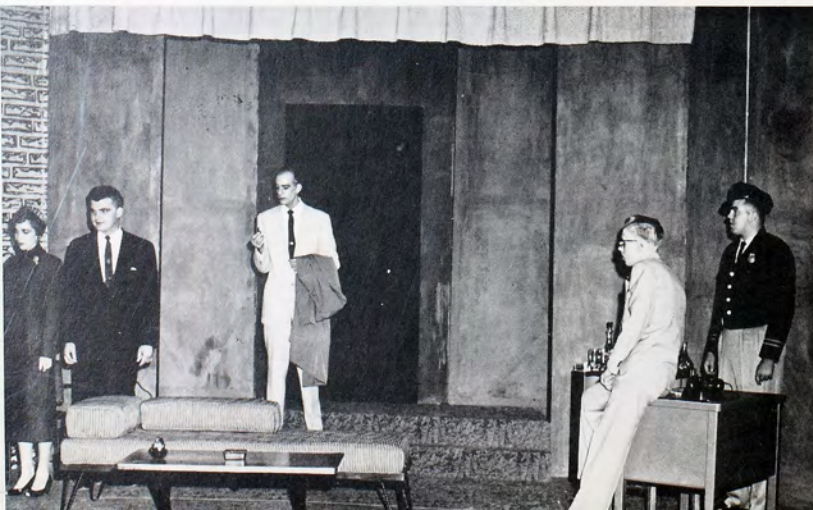

Captain Lesgate (Bob Raines) attempts to strangle Mrs. Wendice (Lorna Shaw).

Tony Wendice (Hal Colony) talks to his guest, Captain Lesgate. "You've become quite fascinating. In fact, there were times when I felt you belonged to me."

Tony tries to determine just how the key he has in his hand opened the door. Margot, Max Holliday (Bob Scheuerman), Lieutenant Hubbard (Gary Glick), and Thompson (Dave Beckwith) say nothing.

Margot points—"There's the Maharajah. Isn't he darling?" Tony explains, "He had four Rolls Royces and enough jewels to sink a battleship."

John Proctor (Harold Stones) and Abigail Williams (Virginia Taylor): "You'll speak nothin' of Elizabeth!"

Elizabeth Proctor (Nova Moody) and John: "When the children wake, speak nothing of witchcraft—it will frighten them."

The Crucible

"The Crucible," a play depicting the beliefs and practices of witchcraft and the Salem hangings during the 17th century, was presented the last of April by a cast of twenty. Miss Ketchum, assistant professor of speech, directed the play.

Instigated in vengeance by Abigail Williams, the witch trials exert an influence which eventually permeates the lives of all in the community.

John Proctor and his wife, Elizabeth, resist the evil which is a result of the fear provoked by the trials. Proctor refuses to compromise the truth, and sacrifices himself for the principle.

Arthur Miller's dramatic play was presented on the New York stage in 1952 and received great recognition because of its dynamic, challenging roles.

Abigail, John, and Elizabeth: "My husband—is a goodly man."

Debate and Oratory

Students interested in public speaking were members of the Debate and Oratory group.

During the year they worked on extemporaneous speaking, original orations, discussions, and debate sessions.

Several forensic contests, both local and inter-collegiate, were entered this spring with contestants winning top place ratings.

The college is a member of the Kansas Debate Association.

Gestures while speaking are very important as illustrated by Winnie Fellers.

Sonya Stone puts her point across.

Teams of two members each debated argumentative questions. Jim Green presented the question to the opposing team while his colleague, Milford Messer, listened.

Public speakers: Winnie Fellers, Lorna Shaw, and Janice Schmitberger. Standing: Bob Wellshear, Jim Green, Milford Messer, Sherla Bizak, and Sonya Stone.

Little Theatre

Those interested in theatrical work of various aspects joined the Little Theatre organization. Making and repairing stage flats, learning directing techniques, studying the characters of a play, learning readings and cuttings — all are part of the excitement of backstage.

Little Theatre sponsored the play Dial 'M' for Murder as well as the second semester play The Crucible. The traditional Twelfth Night party was held in January. At the party members acted out the Bible story of the Twelfth Night after the first Christmas when the animals were all able to talk and discuss human beings.

Appearing on stage for individual readings—V. Rusco, J. Richardson, B. Raines, B. Schultz, D. Kuehnert, and H. Zillmer.

All the world is a stage and we are the actors. Such were Miss Ketchum, sponsor; C. Kimball, L. Shaw, H. Colony, S. Conard, and R. Scheuerman, secretary-treasurer. Second row: S. Hinshaw, C. Knowles, E. Jewett, S. Bizek, vice-president; and A. Kelley. Back row: H. Wagner, J. Long, and M. Manke.

Mr. Sternberg has spent most of his life producing the facts of the past.

Birds of a feather are supposed to flock together, but here at the museum a wide variety of species are at home.

Fort Hays Museum

The 375 dishes of the Hadley family were given to the museum in 1952. Collection includes: milk-glass, majolica ware, copper luster, glass ware, blue Staffordshire plates, and wedgewood pitchers.

A Pithecanthropus ate a Gillicus 90 million years ago; now their remains are a unique exhibit in the museum. It is believed to be the only Pithecanthropus of its kind not to have digested dinner before it died. The Pithecanthropus, given to the college museum by Mr. Sternberg, has received national publicity.

Members were instructed in interpreting copy when reading before a microphone by Mr. Heather, radio instructor. Listening—T. McCoy, G. Pruyn, and M. Pittman.

Radio

The light flashed and the engineer signaled "go ahead." Thus began a tape recording session. Panel discussions, sports reporting, and interviews were recorded in the Fort Hays State radio department rooms.

The KAYS Radio Station offered the opportunity of part time employment to students interested in announcing.

M. Kingsley, J. Hamburg, E. Smith, J. Ball, D. Luthi, M. Brown; (standing) D. Youtsey, and D. Berens—members of the broadcasting class gave the equipment a good work out.

M. Barrington, student radio engineer, showed students the control board procedure. Seated: E. Jeffrey and G. Martin. Second row: J. Russell, E. Lindahl, and D. LaRue. Back row: L. Lee and V. Anderson.

Part of the class work included tape recording news copy for evaluation. E. Dreiling, L. Doran, E. Lindahl, and G. Graves took their turns at announcing.

J. Brooks, B. Raines, B. Bigham, and G. McClain worked together writing radio scripts. Mr. Heather checked on the progress while M. Barrington waited for copy.

Students

. . . come from north, south, east, and west — some for the first time and some for the last — to study together for a higher education. During a student's college life there are early eight o'clock classes, long labs, pop quizzes, exams, and all the other necessary evils that go toward obtaining a degree. The Freshmen are always a little naive, but by the time they are Sophomores they know the ropes. Juniors can never wait until they are seniors. And Seniors, working double, look forward with mixed emotions to graduation.

Student Council

Trouble shooters for the student body this year, members of the Student Council met each Tuesday to iron out problems. Some of their activities included supervising student elections; sponsoring Corral Day, an unannounced holiday for the college; and a dance during Orientation Week.

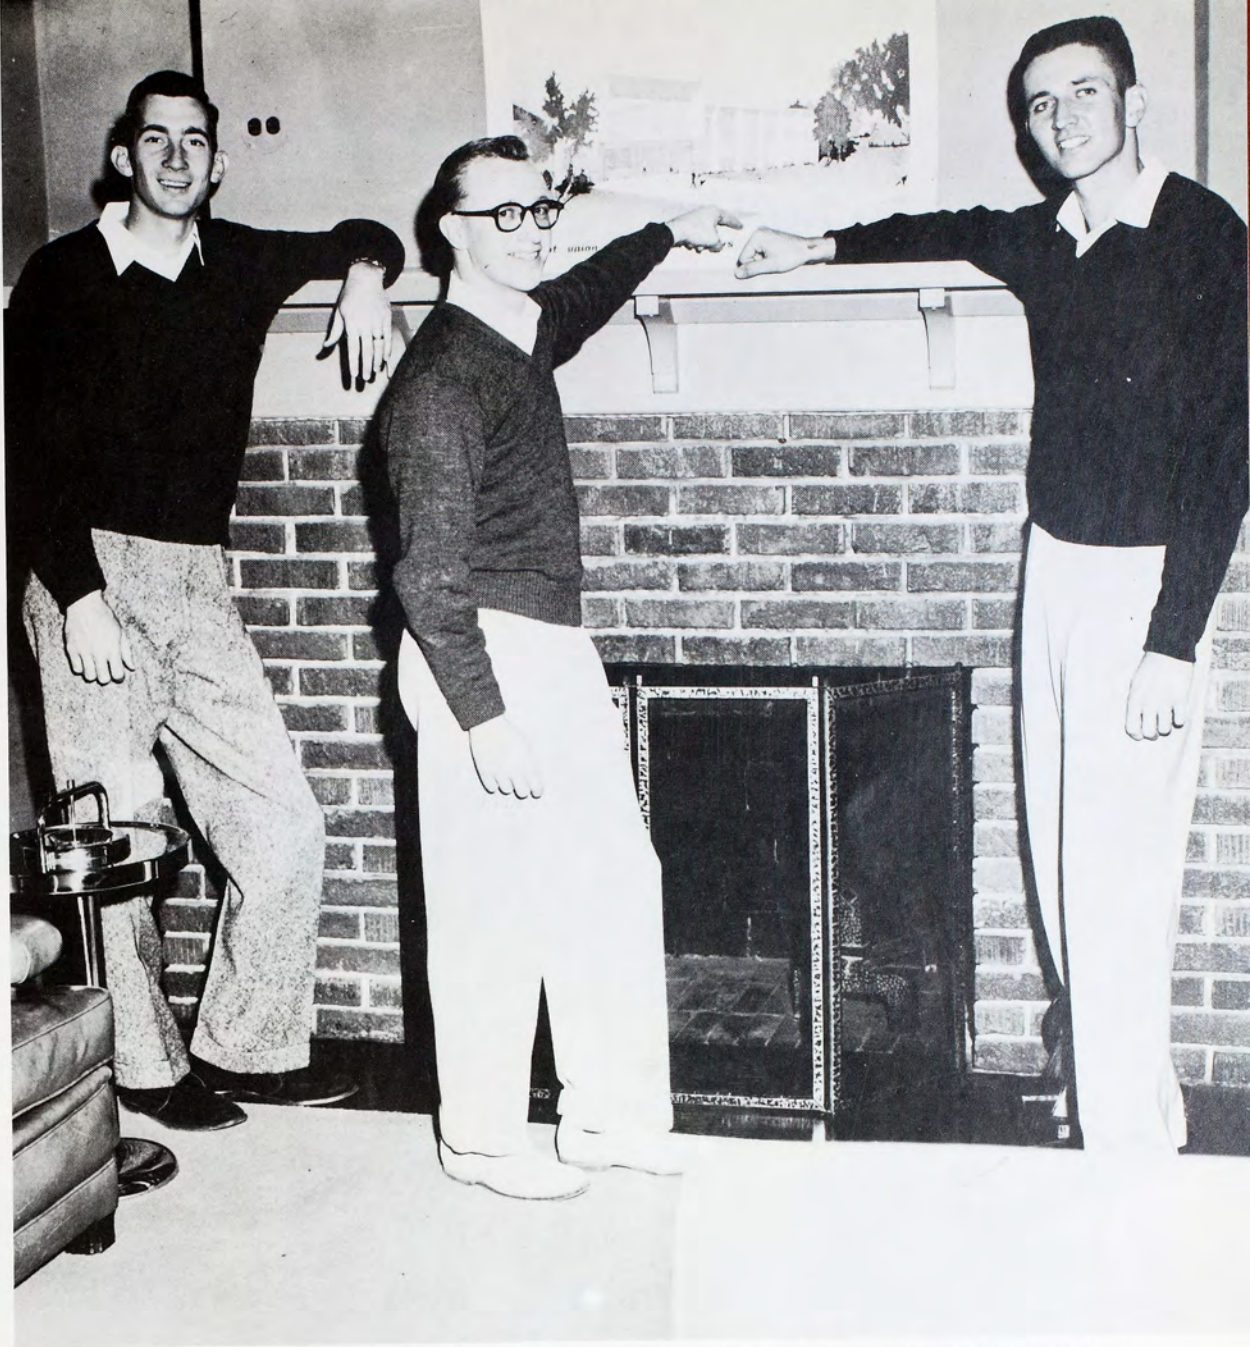

Progress toward biennial CIC Associated Student Council meetings was furthered to enable the representatives of the member colleges to evaluate governing policies. Fort Hays State Council members attended meetings at Emporia State last fall and at Washburn University in the spring.

Officers of the four classes plus the three student body officers make up the membership. Under the advisorship of Dean E. R. McCartney, this group functions as an instrument of student government.

Student Council members thoughtfully consider a problem.

Leading the student body this year were John Clarke, secretary-treasurer; Bill Bigham, president; and Don Burnett, vice-president. These officers took charge of assemblies and the meeting of guest speakers on campus.

Oh! Those early morning pep rallies when everyone got up to send the team off.

This staged class room just goes to prove that faculty members are human, too.

Surprises, Stunts, Social Events

The contrast of the freshman and the Applied Art building is much the same—both new.

A Congratulation Tea was held for the graduating nurses of 1955.

Students met together on Sunday evenings at the Methodist Church for supper and fellowship.

If you can read the Japanese scroll, you're better than the Reveille staff members.

Remember the entertainment at the Orientation picnic?

The photographer caught the Homecoming Queen between two Charlies—Charlie Spivak and Charlie Evans.

Everyone turns out for a popular dance band.

Whenever there was a pep rally this group supplied the music.

Teke "jail birds" found it wasn't any fun getting arrested especially when no one cared to go their bail.

LaMonica Leonard, Marilae Johnson, and Janis Mountain—proud wearers of W. R. A. letter sweaters earned through competitive sports.

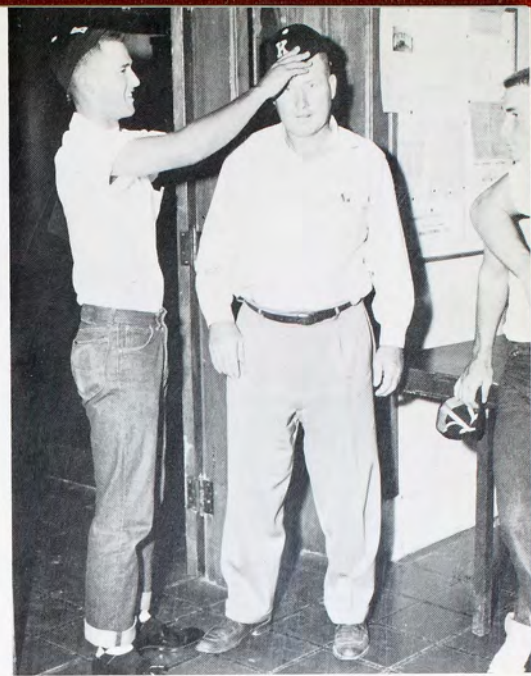

Leisure, Laughter,

Only two more carnival hats to sell and not a customer in sight.

President Cunningham's 13th birthday was quite an event this year. He celebrated it on February 29th. The entire student body planned the surprise party inviting his wife as his honored guest.

Upperclassmen issuing beanies decided that Coach Huffman looked good in the traditional Freshman caps.

Loyalty

Half-time performances by various groups added zest to the basketball games.

Don Eulert and Jackie Brack—a typical college couple.

Studying wasn't so bad when a group could pool their knowledge.

Advertising & Index

... benefits the students. The Hays advertisers appreciate the student's business and welcome a chance to serve the college. Lining Main Street are the firms which provide a change in dining facilities, repairs cars, sells clothes and jewelry, offers banking accommodations, supplies music equipment, replenish the food basket, takes pictures, and carries college supplies. The students value the friendliness, courtesy, and loyalty the advertisers show to Fort Hays Kansas State College.

Main Street, the hub of Hays, where students spend money and some of their time.

The reading of a daily newspaper is a broad education in itself. The daily paper affords a background of general information which no one can obtain in any other way.

Few college students need to be told this, it goes without saying, but there may be young men and young women attending Fort Hays State who do not know the Hays Daily News has complete coverage of world-wide, national, state and home news and pictures on every weekday except Saturday, and on Sunday as well. The Sunday Morning News also has local and national features and a comic section. The over-all news coverage provided is that of the Associated Press, the world's largest news-gathering agency.

The Last Word

It all began last fall. Fourteen enthusiastic students and an energetic sponsor took the pledge of "Do or die for Reveille." There were occasions thereafter when we wished we hadn't been so anxious to sign on the dotted line. There was a job to be done. Little did we know what a job it was.

The real work started the first week of September. The 1956 Reveille began to take shape. The budget was set up, contract signed, letters typed and sent to organizations and advertisers. The assignments were made and we began our task with eagerness.

Unorganized Virginia found out the hard way what organization was. But with ever-smiling Glenn helping out at every turn it wasn't hard. Max was so busy he didn't always get to his classes, but the pictures came rolling in. Gary, between playing in dance bands and industrious studying, found time to be the most comical, capable, business manager in Reveille history. With a typewriter handy, conscientious Merlin was always busy and willing to help whenever needed.

January brought a new semester and the big push. Half of the book was at the publishing company and proofs began to come back. All the staff members were kept busy copy reading and making preparations to complete the remaining pages of the annual.

Now the book is finished. Every sheet of copy, all pictures, every outline, and every roster is in.

It has been quite a year. We will never forget the riotous good time we had painting and decorating for the Reveille Ball. Gone are the Tuesday night meetings, the rush for deadlines, the nightmares of type size and picture proportions, the index work which lasted past midnight, the dates we didn't have and the sleep we didn't get. But those of us who were members of this staff will always have a few "extra special" memories of work and fun of the 1956 Reveille.
